Three-Mile Limit on Coast

Offshore Reserve For Oil and Gas Placed by Crown

Move Can Mean 'Millions to B.C.'

By ALEC MERRIMAN

A Crown reserve of petroleum and natural gas placed yesterday on all waters on the west coast within the three-mile limit will likely mean millions of dollars to provincial coffers, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said.

The reserve, which includes Vancouver Island and stretches from above Prince Rupert to the international boundary in Juan de Fuca Strait, covers the entire area of water within the limit except for areas now held under exploration permits.

Mr. Kiernan explained the reserve will safeguard offshore resources and will mean that permits which have cost just $250 a year hitherto may cost upwards of $100,000 under public bidding procedures which will now be required.

The mines minister pictured British Columbia's coastline eventually dotted with oil-drilling rigs. Vancouver Island waters are among those that oil companies are exploring.

Offshore Drilling Success

Speed of underwater development will depend, he said, on the results of exploration work now underway by a number of companies which secured permits before the reserve was clamped on by the cabinet.

Mr. Kiernan pointed to the tremendous success of offshore drilling off the coast of California and the Gulf of Mexico.

He said the Richfield Oil Company is already doing extensive exploration work in the Queen Charlottes.

Five wells have been drilled on the shore of Graham Island in the Queen Charlottes, and although no oil was struck, the company has indicated it still has high hopes.

Mr. Kiernan said that "within a year Richfield should decide on whether it will undertake offshore drillings."

If it is successful, it will open vast new oil and natural gas fields for B.C.

In addition to the exploration permits now held, there are several thousand square miles of offshore waters involved, Mr. Kiernan said.

20 Permits in North

There are now about 20 permits in the Queen Charlotte area, 12 in the Gulf Islands area, several on the mainland crossing the water to meet the Gulf Islands leases, another group of exploration permits in the Campbell River area and some at the north end of Vancouver Island.

Prior to yesterday it was a question of who applied first and paid the $250 permit fee plus rental of 5 cents an acre per year to obtain exploration rights.

Oil permit revenues have been partly responsible for placing British Columbia in the sound financial position it is reported to be in today.

At a Crown sale of 336,000 acres in 45 parcels being conducted by the mines department today, the government expects to realize between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 for petroleum and natural gas rights.

The property to be leased ranges from 460 to 59,420-acre parcels in northeastern British Columbia from Dawson Creek to the Yukon border.

More than 50 companies, including most of the major petroleum companies, have submitted tenders.

Typhoon Slices Japan

TOKYO (UPI)—A typhoon ripped across central Japan Thursday with winds up to 97 miles an hour and torrents of rain that measured up to 30 inches.

There were nine confirmed dead in the storm and at least 21 others were listed as missing. Twenty major rail lines were paralyzed by flood waters and landslides. Train service out of Tokyo was at a complete standstill.

More than 60,000 families were driven from their homes by rampaging river waters which breached levees.

IWA, Firms Won't Budge

Get-Together His Goal

Will Minister Name Mediator?

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks indicated yesterday the government is prepared to step in to pave the way for settlement in the IWA strike which has idled some 27,000 woodworkers since July 6.

LYLE WICKS
... main hope

"There has been no indication that either party wants to get together," he said. "It may well be an opportunity may have to be provided to both sides whereby they can get together."

Mr. Wicks wouldn't elaborate as to whether he is considering the appointment of a mediator.

Costs of the strike to British Columbia is estimated at more than $1,000,000 a day.

MAJOR DEVELOPMENT

Mr. Wicks said the overnight settlement of the 50-day ironworkers strike was "a major development, but not necessarily the only major development that could take place."

He said the latest settlement "should and likely will mark the end of the rising industrial strife of the last month or so and mark a new trend towards settlement of existing disputes and heading off further ones."

UNUSUAL CASE

He said there were a great deal of unusual circumstances in the ironworkers strike.

But, he added, the main hope will come from the psychological effect of its settlement along with the settlement of two other disputes within the last week.

(Some 5,000 fishermen and 220 shingle workers have returned to work in the last week as well as the 550 ironworkers.)

WHEELS TURNING

"Workers now on strike and the employers will want to see operations commencing and the wheels turning," Mr. Wicks said.

"I think that when the people see the fishermen going out into the Fraser River to fish, it won't be long before the men and women back home demand to see the lathes of the plywood plants turning, the saws of the sawmills buzzing and the trees falling in the woods."

Newest Moon Could Return Man to Earth

By United Press International

A big Discoverer moon, jammed with the basic equipment necessary to return the first U.S. astronaut safely from an 18,000-mile-an-hour satellite, was successfully blasted into orbit last night from a U.S. air force base at Vandenburg, Calif.

Discoverer V, second stage of a 54-ton, Thor-boosted rocket, carried no life. But its nose contained a 300-pound capsule which the air force hoped to bring back to scientists in the world's first successful recovery of an object from orbit.

FIRED RIGHT

Twenty-one minutes after launching, the air force said telemetry data showed the satellite separated from its booster and fired as planned 100 miles above earth to continue its journey into space.

Air force men were jubilant over placing of the 19-foot long, 1,700-pound moon into a polar orbit following two recent failures. The Discoverers are intended primarily to develop equipment and technique for returning objects from orbit, with the ability to reach orbit taken for granted.

"SAFE" AREA

Next step in the experiment — recovery from a moon streaking around the world every 90-odd minutes — is scheduled for this afternoon off Hawaii. The capsule should be ejected on the 17th pass around the earth, chosen so the satellite would be in position to eject its package into a "safe" recovery area 700 miles southwest of Hawaii.

Officials said "equipment is similar to that being designed for the Project Mercury manned moon. We've still got to prove we can bring hardware and then animals back safely from a satellite before we can try it with a man."

Babe Ruth Tourney Opens

First Lacrosse Game Thrill For Little Ballplayers

After spending the best part of two days getting acquainted with Victoria, some 120 youths from 13 to 15 years old settled down to serious business last night as regional Babe Ruth baseball playdowns opened at Royal Athletic Park.

Approximately 1,500 fans watched B.C. champion New Westminster edge The Dalles, Ore., 3-2, after coming from behind with a pair of sixth-inning runs.

Mayor Percy Scurrah threw out the first ball.

Wednesday night most of the teams watched the Inter-City Lacrosse League game between New Westminster and Victoria. For some teams, it was their first lacrosse game.

Members of the Ketchikan, Alaska, team were impressed no end.

"That was our first lacrosse game," said coach Henry Akeo, "but the boys enjoyed themselves. They really took a shine to No. 12 of New Westminster (Jack Bionda), but the one they liked best was the Victoria goalie (Geordie Johnston)."

Apparently the Alaska lads saw some other "firsts." Driving in from the airport, one boy turned to another and gasped, "There's a real cow!"

The Dalles club is billeted close together on Craigmillar Road and the area is all but roped off as "Oregon State."

This afternoon the teams will hold workouts at various local parks.

Tonight two games are scheduled. The host Victoria team plays Ketchikan in the feature game at 8.30. Seattle King County all-stars meet Casper, Wyoming, in the first game at 7.

Laos Army Chases Reds

VIENTAINE, Laos (Reuters)—Royal Laotian government forces were reported Thursday to be re-occupying villages in northern Laos following a partial withdrawal by pro-Communist rebels.

But the rebels still hold 50 villages in the Muongson Valley.

It is believed the rebels were forced to withdraw from some areas because they extended their supply lines too far.

Revolt Over Castro Says

HAVANA (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro told a cheering crowd in central Cuba Thursday a counter-revolution attempt has been smashed and there is nothing to fear. He spoke in Cienfuegos, had a long talk with his district naval commander there, and then dropped out of sight.

Negroes Arrested, Schools Peaceful

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Negroes returned to two formerly white high schools yesterday without trouble, but state police said they had arrested the father of one Negro student and two other adult Negroes for carrying pistols.

Meanwhile, Gov. Orval Faubus appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court a district court decision that the special laws under which he closed four high schools last year are unconstitutional.

The Negroes arrested were Ellis Thomas, 42, father of Jefferson Thomas, the one Negro student in Central High; Dr. Garman Freeman, a dentist, and Isaac Mullen, a special deputy sheriff.

APPOINTED DEPUTY

Sheriff L. C. Young appointed Mullen as a deputy to protect the home of Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mullen will not be charged because of his status as a deputy, but he will lose his badge and deputy's card because he was arrested off his post.

Thomas and Dr. Freeman were charged in city court with carrying concealed weapons. They were freed on $200 bond each.

Dr. Freeman said they were held in county jail from 1.30 a.m. to 9.30 a.m. yesterday, after which they were taken to state police headquarters. He said state police refused to let them telephone because, they said, they wanted to "check them out" first.

State police said Thomas had a .38-calibre "police special" revolver; Mullen, a .45-calibre automatic, and Dr. Freeman, a German Mauser pistol. There also was a carbine in a car the Negroes were in.

Flying Boat Still Missing

Whereabouts of the first of four giant Mars flying boats, scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Wednesday to take up forest fire-quenching duties, is still a mystery. The planes have been expected "daily" from Alameda, Calif., but each day fail to appear.

Quebec Polio Mild Epidemic

MONTREAL (CP)—The outbreak of polio in Montreal was officially labelled a mild epidemic Thursday night.

No new cases were reported Thursday but a number of possible cases were under investigation.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THERE are two ways to look at a train; as a thing of beauty, or as a machine that can be measured in horsepower and pounds, shillings and pence.

My little boys and I stood on a station platform in the south of England and saw a steam-driven train thunder past at 70 miles-an-hour. It rushed out of sight in a few seconds.

Then another train came hissing past us more slowly, so that we could see the driver clearly and the fireman beside him with a shovel, ready to heave the shiny coal into the fire.

The boys and I gaped at the train, at the glum faces of people reading newspapers, framed in dirt-spattered windows that slid past our view, at the melting plume of smoke and at the signal arm that snapped into a horizontal position to warn other trains that the line was in use.

"Where is it going?" asked small Michael, turning up a face that was full of wonder.

"It's going to London, boy," I said. And I remembered from my own childhood what magic there was in the sight of a train, so big and noisy, rushing off to wild and strange places. This train looked and smelled very much like the English trains I remembered from childhood.

* * *

I hadn't hoped to return and find steam in its full glory on British railways. That came as a pleasant surprise. I could never see a train—especially one powered by a steam locomotive—as a mechanical vehicle and nothing else.

I look on a train as something to marvel at. I think my boys and I share the same attitude toward trains, most of the time.

However, I am supposed to be a grown-up, so I try to have some practical thoughts now and then. It is expected of me.

Hundreds of trains—some of them diesel and electric, far more of them steam, burning British coal—criss-cross these islands every day. They are generally fast and punctual (I know this by experience) but sometimes dirty. Dark gray shirt-collars and the black ring around the bathtub provide ample evidence of the dirt.

There is a program underway to trim railway operations, reduce the number of stations and "unprofitable" branch lines, and convert steam to diesel and electric.

I think British railways, despite their faults, are already doing a complicated job very well. They are going to do even better—gaining something in speed and cleanliness and perhaps losing some of their romance in the process.

But the more the railways improve, the more abuse and insults they get from the people of Britain, who like to have something to grumble about.

* * *

Having dumped the little boys on their grandmother once again, I was paying a visit to one of my favorite cousins, a girl who had been a theoretical Socialist in her extreme youth and is now a right-wing Tory. I was foolish enough to bring up the subject of railways.

"Trains on the Continent put English trains to shame," my cousin said. "Nothing run by the state ever works properly."

"Surely the British railways would have been in trouble after the war even if they had remained under private ownership," I suggested.

True, said my cousin. But most of the blame belonged to the Labor people who had nationalized the railway system and played politics with it.

"Perhaps they expected too much of public ownership," I suggested. "They expected it to work miracles overnight, and they tried to take over too many things before they had learned how to run them."

* * *

"I don't think anything run by the government is efficient," my cousin said. "But the behavior of the Labor people changed at once, when they won the election after the war.

"My milkman said that he wasn't going to bring milk; we would have to come and fetch it in future. Of course, that didn't last long. He still brought it.

"During the war it was hard to get The Times. They put it aside for me at a little place . . . On the day after the election, I asked the girl for my Times. 'I haven't got one,' she said. 'You come in here with your nose in the air, and you expect . . . I shan't have The Times for you.'

My cousin gave me an ironic look. "I had never said anything to the girl except 'Good morning,' and something about the weather and 'Thank you.' As for the angle of my nose . . ."

My cousin shrugged and pointed toward some thatched cottages. The thatches were in a moth-eaten and eroded state.

"For a long time after the war, rents of those cottages were controlled at five shillings a week (less than 75 cents). It would only have cost 80 pounds ($230) to put new thatches on them. But the owners couldn't afford to do any repairs. Now the cottages are so far gone that the owners would have to spend quite a lot to repair them. And they can't get enough rent to pay for the repairs.

"The council would love to get its hands on those cottages, and pull them down. I may try to buy them myself, just to save them. When you elect a Labor government, you are turning the country over to the sort of people who run local councils."

"I got into politics myself, a little. I didn't like it. But I had to do something to help get those awful people out."

The subject of trains had carried us a long way. But there were also non-political things to talk about. My wife and I spent a pleasant day with my cousin, and returned to Poole by bus. I wasn't being disloyal to British Railways. It happened that the bus ran near my cousin's house.

Flying Officer H. W. A. Brown, 35, of Victoria, has been posted to the RCAF's NATO Air Division Supply Base, Langar, England, it was announced yesterday by Air Force Headquarters.

Smuggling Stewards Dismissed

LONDON (AP) — British Overseas Airways Corporation yesterday announced dismissal of eight more air stewards for smuggling gold and gems into India. Another 22 were fired last month.

A BOAC spokesman said investigations still are going on in co-operation with Scotland Yard and the Indian government.

India, Pakistan, Hong Kong and Beirut were principal points involved in the smuggling, BOAC officials said.

Tourists Fewer

Tourist entries into British Columbia for the six months of 1959 were down 5.6 per cent to 103,888 tourist vehicle permits from 110,013 permits issued up to the end of June last year.

But in June tourist entries started to climb with a 2.2 per cent increase over last June, Trade Minister Robert Bonner said yesterday.

Travellers' vehicle permits issued in June numbered 34,245, some 751 vehicles more than in June of last year.

Ahrens Named to Run B.C. Parks Planning

New chief of the planning division of the provincial parks branch is Robert Ahrens, 33 this month.

He replaces Lloyd Brooks, who was wooed away by the federal government to become director of planning for the national parks service in Ottawa.

Mr. Ahrens has been in the provincial parks service for 10 years and has been responsible mainly for reconnaissance work in the location of new park areas.

Now he will be responsible for development of those reserves into parks.

One of his first jobs will be to plan new provincial campsites at Sandy Beach off the Malahat, on the Chemainus River in the Cowichan district and at Smiths Landing at Sproat Lake. All are scheduled for development this winter.

Mr. Ahrens is probably better acquainted with this province's recreation possibilities than any other one man.

Police Probe Arson Report In Tent Death

LUMBY (CP)—RCMP are following up reports that an arsonist may have been responsible for a tent fire that killed a seven-year-old girl here.

The girl, Victoria Hull, was burned over 75 per cent of her body on July 18 when a back-yard tent caught fire. She died in a Vancouver hospital several days later.

RCMP had an inquest adjourned until they could complete their investigation of the fire.

Frightened Boys

Basket Bomb Big Surprise For Thieves

ALGIERS (AP) — A policeman idly watched two little Moslem boys struggling to carry a wicker shopping basket.

The two urchins, about 10 years of age, would heave the basket along for a short way, then set it down to rest before repeating the process.

The basket seemed much too heavy for the groceries it appeared to contain, the policeman thought. He ordered the boys to halt.

While they waited, wide-eyed and frightened, the policeman lifted a box of sugar from off the rest of the grocery camouflage and found a 60-millimetre mortar shell rigged to a timing device.

Bomb-disposal experts disarmed the device, just two minutes before the time set for the bomb to detonate.

The incident Wednesday caused a good deal of excitement but probably the most surprised persons were the two boys.

They told police they had spied the basket in a downtown department store. When they thought no one was looking, they stole it and were lugging it home when the policeman stopped them.

Total Employed in B.C. Largest Ever for June

Number of people working in B.C. by mid-June was the highest on record for this month with 548,000 workers in jobs, Trade Minister Robert Bonner said yesterday.

The number of persons working was only about 2,000 smaller than during the peak employment period in the history of the province in July, 1957. Previous high for June was 530,000, also in 1957.

The total labor force at mid-June was estimated at 570,000, the largest ever. Unemployment declined to about 3.9 per cent of the total labor force.

Retail sales in British Columbia for the first five months of the year were 3.1 per cent higher than in the same period in 1958, Mr. Bonner said.

Department store sales showed consistent gains during the period and were 4.7 per cent higher in the five-month period and motor vehicle dealers showed a 5.3 per cent gain, he said.

Jobless Benefits Continue Drop

Victoria unemployed drew $133,995 in unemployment insurance benefits during the month of July, the National Employment Office reported yesterday.

Month's total for the Pacific region was $1,516,607, $307,330 less than the amount paid out during June.

Icebreakers May Keep Seaway Open All Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. Navy transport authority predicted yesterday that because of the St. Lawrence Seaway, steps will be taken in the future to keep the Great Lakes open to shipping all year around.

Lake shipping at present is on a nine-month basis with ice barring transportation in the winter.

However, Vice-Admiral Roy Gano, head of the navy's military sea transportation service, forecast that icebreakers will be used eventually to keep the ship channels open even in the winter.

Gano, testified on proposals authorizing the construction of an atomic-powered icebreaker, being considered by a House merchant marine subcommittee.

The estimated cost of an atomic icebreaker ranges from 40 to $60,000,000 depending on the size and equipment of the ship.

President Eisenhower last year vetoed a bill authorizing construction of a nuclear icebreaker and still opposes it on grounds it is too costly.

Tourist Denies Impersonation

A tourist from San Francisco pleaded not guilty in city court yesterday to a charge of impersonating a peace officer. City policemen had said the man told them he was a San Francisco police officer.

Patrick K. Hocker told Magistrate William Ostler he would like to communicate with the U.S. consulate to arrange legal representation.

Magistrate Ostler said Hocker would be given an opportunity to make a phone call from the police charge office.

Hocker was remanded to Monday for trial. City police indicated there might be other charges.

Fined $15 each after pleading guilty to charges of being minors in possession of liquor were Raymond J. Racette, 833 Admirals, and Clifford Chudy of Brentwood.

Pearkes, Campney Defend 'Essential' Mid-Canada Line

'Blunder,' Says Officer

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Mid-Canada Line system to detect enemy aircraft or missiles was defended by Defence Minister George Pearkes and former defence minister Ralph Campney yesterday after a former high-ranking air force official charged it was "useless."

Pearkes denied the charges made by retired Group Captain C. B. Limbrick that the Mid-Canada Line was "a colossal blunder, a waste of money and bloody well useless."

The defence minister said the Canadian-built $250,000,000 "belt" of tracking stations stretching across the 55th parallel, was "an essential element in our warning systems giving identification" of enemy bombers.

In Vancouver, former Liberal defence minister Ralph Campney, who was responsible for the construction of the warning systems, said Limbrick's charges were one man's opinion and "if we were to consider the opinions of every individual against the ideas of hundreds of experts on a matter of such scope, Canada's defence system would be in a sad state of affairs."

Limbrick, who retired two years ago as Royal Canadian Air Force director of radio warfare, said the Mid-Canada Line system wasn't dependable because it couldn't distinguish between real planes and decoys, and was much subject to false alarms.

"A flock of geese could send the alarm off," Limbrick added.

The radar and missile expert who helped build Canadian radar defences in the Second World War said the line was "far too far south."

Limbrick suggested a "more conventional radar system" using eight big radar installations, could have done a better job at a quarter of the cost and would have been able to serve as both a detection system like the Mid-Canada system, and also as an aircraft control unit.

"I'm furious over the money that was wasted, he said. "If anything stinks to high heaven this is it," he added.

Pearkes said yesterday that U.S. Defence Secretary Neil McElroy Tuesday asked for more "gap fillers" between the Mid-Canada and Pinetree Lines to make the systems more effective.

'Poison' Candy Traced

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Doctors are examining a vagabond suspected of giving a group of children potentially fatal medicine tablets as candy.

The man was arrested after a four-year-old boy, who had eaten some of the tablets, became ill and was rushed to a hospital.

He recovered, but police broadcast an alarm throughout the heavily-populated Vuxhall and Deritend suburbs when they learned a poorly-dressed man had given the brightly-colored tablets to other children.

Hundreds of mothers roused sleeping children to ask if they had eaten any.

The alarm took on an ominous tone when a doctor said he had issued 700 tablets to a patient suffering from Parkinson's disease, a complaint affecting the nervous system.

The doctor said he gave the patient a large amount of the tablets when he pleaded he was a vagrant and could not call again.

Police said the pills could prove fatal if taken in large quantities.

Fire Outlook 'Hopeless' In Labrador

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld (UPI) — Forest fires again are reported to be raging out of control in two inaccessible regions of Labrador.

Chief forestry officer Charles Cahill said last night thousands of cords of valuable black spruce were being consumed by a fire north of Lake Melville.

Cahill described the situation as "hopeless." He said it was impossible for men or equipment to be moved to the region and the only course was to let the blaze burn itself out.

A pilot returning from the Kapikok River area said there were a "rash of fires burning out of control."

In the Gilbert, Paradise and Hawkes River regions fires which have plagued the area for almost a month flared up again and were burning out of control.

Cahill said there are not enough men or enough equipment available to "make the slightest headway against these fires."

No towns were endangered in the latest outbreaks.

B.C.'s Appalling Traffic Toll

ONE may make one's own deductions from the fact that British Columbia's highway death rate has mounted in a most alarming manner since the speed limit was raised to 60 miles-an-hour on certain stretches deemed suitable for the higher speed. But this is an instance in which statistics, though they may appear to point in one direction, cannot be accepted as proof.

The element of coincidence has to be taken into account. No one can say with any degree of certainty that a car travelling at excessive speed crashed and killed someone because the speed limit has been increased. The driver might have been a reckless person who paid no attention to speed limits, whether of 30, 40, 50 or 60 miles-an-hour.

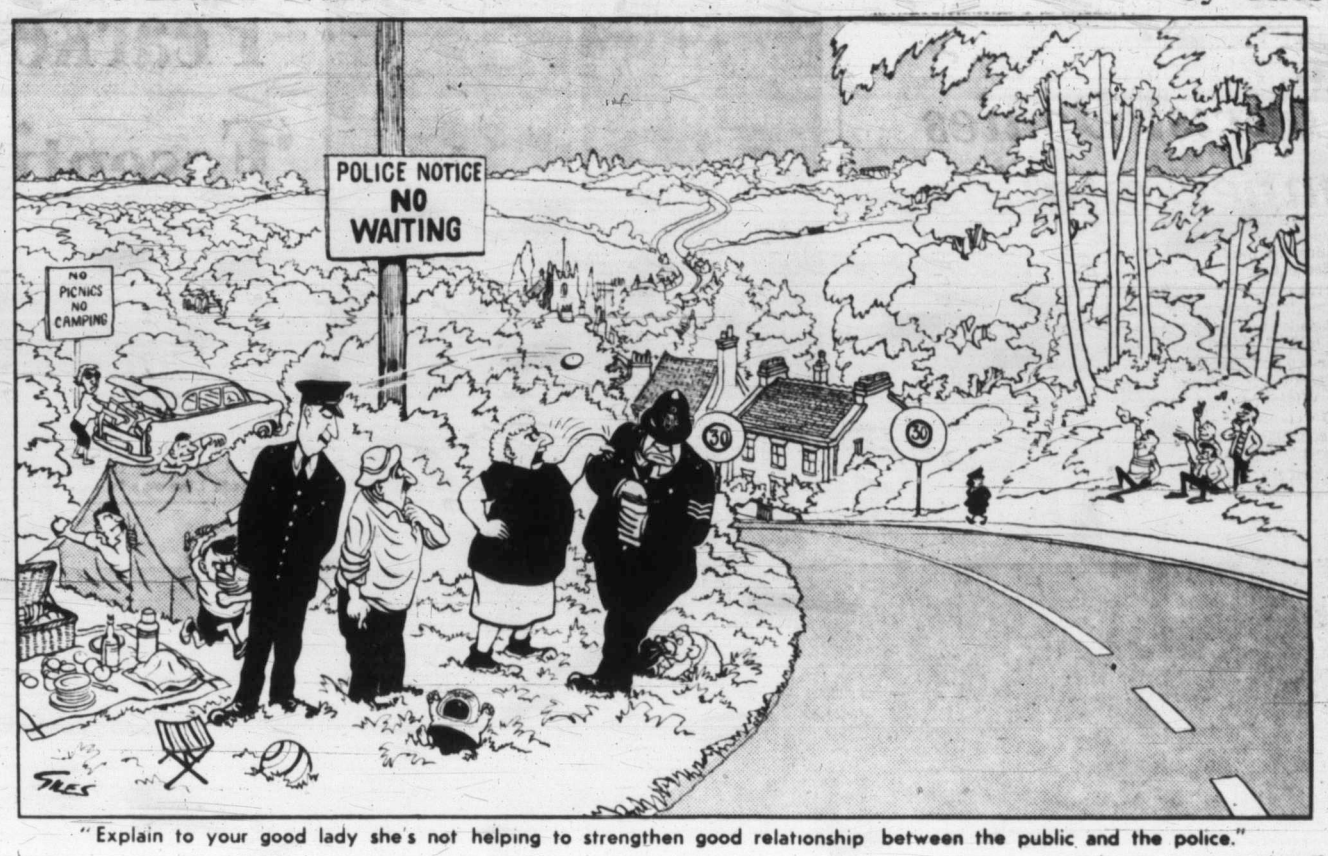

That is Highway Minister Gaglardi's deduction — presented, however, with a degree of assurance which the facts he has to go on fail to warrant. The minister may be right. The change in the speed limit may have had nothing—or at any rate very little—to do with the sudden rise in the fatality rate. But he can't prove it. Nor, of course, can those who take the opposite view prove him wrong. That is what makes the whole issue so inconclusive.

Since there is no way of proving this like a theorum in geometry, the best that can be arrived at is a conclusion based on probability. And the probability would seem to be that raising the speed limit by 10 miles-an-hour had at least something to do with the steep rise in death statistics, even if it were not the prime or sole cause.

Mr. Gaglardi's argument in favor of a 60-mile limit would have been more convincing if his statements were not quite so positive and uncompromising. The value of his opinion is weakened when he makes so demonstrably absurd a statement as that "nobody driving the speed limit as it is posted will ever get into trouble." In British Columbia there are thousands of cars and as many more drivers quite unfit by reason of age and mechanical or physical impairments for a speed of 50 miles an hour, let alone 60. There are too many times when Mr. Gaglardi makes utterances which have no basis of fact, with the result that he diminishes public credence in his statements as a minister of the crown.

However, that is by the way. The important thing now is to find if possible why British Columbia's highway record has become so shockingly bad, and what can be done to improve it. In arranging for an official investigation into the relationship of the death toll to the new speed limit, if there is a relationship, Mr. Gaglardi is taking the proper course and is to be commended.

Mr. K. in North America

AMERICA is agog over the forthcoming visit of Premier Khrushchev, for several reasons. For one thing, there is the feeling that some real good may come out of a heart-to-heart chat between him and President Eisenhower; and for another, the Soviet leader has established himself as a spectacular personality. No mistake should be made of the American instinct, however; it is curiosity to see the chief protagonist of the cold war that predominates, not an open-door welcome. Doubtless our neighbors will show him every courtesy but they are not ready to cheer him. He represents a creed and purpose inimical to their interests.

Mr. Eisenhower has made it clear that Mr. Khrushchev may go anywhere he pleases in the United States. There will be no reserved areas. Even though the Soviet premier has said he doesn't want to see any military bases these will be free to him if he desires. The president will not even intervene to stop a strike lest it be in progress when Premier Khrushchev arrives. The freedom to strike is part of the norm of democratic society, even if this is not so in Russia, and Mr. Eisenhower rightly takes the stand it is the real America the Soviet leader should see, not some specially arranged facade. If he is properly to absorb anything of the American scene life must go on across the line as usual.

Whether Mr. Khrushchev will pay a visit to Ottawa is yet to be known. If he is invited he will come. This would be purely a courtesy call however. The Soviet main concern is with the United States. There can be no thought of a tour of this country, if only because it does not belong in the context of things. Most municipalities recognize this and it is strange to have Victoria and Vancouver express a desire to be the Soviet leader's host. Municipalities have no place in the realm of high-level international affairs. Premier Khrushchev could come here only as a celebrity to be lauded and feted, and this is scarcely the mood of Victorians. It is one thing to recognize the necessity of summit conference between the de facto heads of state; it is altogether another thing to bid for the presence of a guest whose policies keep the world in grievous ferment.

THE royal blessed event-to-be gave rise to some rather mixed phraseology as journalists strove to relate it historically to similar advents of the past. One paper emphasized that not since Queen Victoria's time has a sovereign given birth to a child.

Perhaps this is just as well, for it would have been a biological phenomenon had things been otherwise. All of the sovereigns between Victoria and her great-great-granddaughter were males.

A colleague is bothered by a wasp's nest under the lintel of his front door, and after cogitating mightily and consulting a friend, he has come up with the real mackay of a cure. Not for him my suggestion that hot water—begging the SPCA's pardon—was just dandy for skinning the intruders alive. Anyway, you can't hold water high up; it runs back down one's sleeve.

No, he is much more ingenuous. He simply elevates the hose of his vacuum cleaner and sucks the nuisance into the bag, adding a little insecticide to compose them to eternal sleep. The system is very effective, he tells me, albeit I fear he is going to be very unpopular with the wasps. The count to date is nine to one in his favor, going through the lintel and coming back.

Somebody long ago said "Go West, young man," and that apparently is where the young and old of Canada are flocking. While the latest population figures show Ontario and Quebec still well to the forefront—where they will likely stay for decades yet to come the trend otherwise is towards the setting sun. Apparently the Maritimes have a scanter appeal.

Subtracting the original Upper and Lower Canada, which together count nearly 11,000,000 heads, this leaves approximately six-and-a-half million persons spread over the rest of the country. The West—Manitoba to B.C., inclusive—can claim some 4,600,000 of them. The West is burgeoning, of course, and some day may boast Texas-like of being the "biggest" something or other. Doubtless it is the air.

I shall pass over in silence, as not being relevant, the sudden spurt of our next-door neighbor which induces Edmonton optimists to think Alberta is going to leave B.C. behind in no time at all. Obviously the ten-gallon hats are going to their heads.

There is no suggestion, meantime, that after leaving the White House come January, 1961, he intends taking up residence at Culzean under the patronymic of "MacEisenhower." But I suppose one never knows.

Letter from London

Welcome Boost for Tory Chances

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

NO one wants to be selfish about the world situation but there is no doubt that the British prime minister has never been more sincere than when he said he warmly welcomed the announcement that Mr. Khrushchev was going to the United States and President Eisenhower to Moscow.

As far as Britain is concerned the exchange of visits means that almost certainly the expected British general election will take place in October in an atmosphere of international relief, instead of tension.

There is no doubt that Mr. Macmillan has been worried about the failure of the Geneva conference — at least up to the time of the announced visits. There was a haunting fear that Mr. Khrushchev might turn on the heat over Berlin and that an election might fall in a period of international tension — a situation which is exceedingly awkward for the government in power.

Now the clouds have been blown away.

Naturally everyone in Britain hopes that something may be achieved from these talks and visits but even if it is not they will provide a welcome relief from the tensions of the past few months. From Mr. Macmillan's point of view it will give him the opportunity to steer his electoral ship in calm waters without fear of those sudden squalls which can be so disastrous politically. It will provide the necessary degree of confidence which should ensure his safe return to finish the job of finding some workable formula for international co-existence.

Inversely it takes a great deal away from the socialists, who would obviously have told the electorate that they (the socialists) could make a better effort. That is no longer possible and, in fact, Mr. Gaitskell has welcomed the visits as much as Mr. Macmillan.

Obviously it is of tremendous advantage to have President Eisenhower to keep the volatile Mr. Khrushchev simmering instead of boiling while Mr. Macmillan concerns himself with the domestic necessity of getting a vote of confidence from the electors. If he is returned and there is not much real doubt of this — he will be immensely strengthened in power and influence both in Russia and the United States.

What emerged at Geneva and what has emerged in normal diplomatic discussions with Russia is that Soviet policy is dictated by fear and by lack of trust. This at long last is being recognized in Britain. Mr. Khrushchev just refuses to believe that Western policy is dictated by fear and lack of trust, and the result is that both sides regard the others as aggressive.

It is this lack of confidence which has to be broken down before there can be any hope of effective understanding, which everyone hopes will result from the return visits across the Atlantic.

Geneva proved the inability of nations to get together when there was no common basis of trust, no common faith that either side really meant what it said, and no outward signs of goodwill. Russia emphasized the world's aggressive intentions by pointing to bases surrounding the Soviet, and the Western bloc argued Russia's aggressive intentions by its vigorous control of its European satellites which could be a springboard for attack. It was a case of an immovable object meeting an irresistible force.

That atmosphere has at last been relieved by the decision of the two leaders to get together. If personal trust and goodwill can be established there is some hope that national trust and goodwill will follow and that from it will flow some form of disengagement in Europe and at least a period of friendly co-existence.

Indeed the world is suffering from a general malaise rather than an identifiable disease — fear, distrust, wrong conclusions and presumptions are its main symptoms—and the cure is doubtless a little rest, a more peaceful atmosphere and an opportunity to prove sincerity in an agreement to differ. If Mr. Krushchev and President Eisenhower can help the doctors by agreeing to a period of comparative calm the world will be a whole lot better.

Meanwhile Mr. Macmillan, who played some considerable part in arranging the meetings, will now be able to get ahead with his own affairs.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

IN the Manchester Guardian lately (the newspaper most respected by newspapermen except the one they are working for) Richard Fry remarked that some newspapermen "forget that the freedom of the press is a right of the people, not of the press." I wish I had had that quotation handy in the chair car yesterday when I was verbally assaulted by a member of parliament who got the porter to change his seat so he could sit next to me and give me a six-hour drubbing. What irks him is the assumption of authority by newspapermen.

"We," he said, "members of parliament, and therefore the government of the country, have to win the approval of our fellow citizens in an election before we are at liberty to express opinions binding on the public. But you people! Who elects you? By what authority do you sound off editorially, telling the lawfully chosen representatives of the people what they should do and how they should think? You are private citizens who work your way up in a semi-professional, semi-commercial enterprise, and then assume you have the right to govern public opinion."

The people have a right far easier to exercise than the vote. They have the right to choose a newspaper every day, often twice a day. They give it their patronage, or they withhold it. If it faithfully represents their opinions, points of view and attitudes, they support it. If it offends them, they drop it. They don't have to wait four or five years before they can change their vote.

The press is fairly safe in the public's hands. The freedom of the press is a right of the people, not of the press.

Interpreting the News

Communists in Cuba

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press foreign news analyst William L. Ryan, who was in Cuba when Fidel Castro's rebels punctured Fulgencio Batista's regime last New Year's Day, has just returned for a survey of how the Castro revolution is developing today.

HAVANA — Cuba's Communists have tried and failed to set up what they likely would consider an ideal situation for themselves in present circumstances. Banking on unwitting help from the United States, they now await a fresh opportunity.

To the Communists' delight, there has been a basic misconception of what they are up to in Cuba, and this tends to deflect U.S. attention from their immediate aims.

The Communists know — if many in the United States do not—that they are not strong enough to turn the island of Cuba into a Red satellite.

What they seek is a base for Red operations in the Caribbean and Latin America with complete freedom of action and communications. Cuba thus would be extremely valuable as a lever for creating turmoil all over the area.

The Communists tipped their hands July 17 when Fidel Castro resigned as premier in a manoeuvre to demonstrate his popularity with the masses.

Within two hours the Communists broadcast an appeal for a "government of national unity," meaning they wanted cabinet representation. They would have settled for one or two ministries and considered the situation ideal at this stage. Castro held them off.

Participation in the government would nail down present Red advantages. The Communists have been highly successful, for example, in penetrating the army and have the comfort of knowing its high command has many dedicated American-haters. Among the most dedicated of these is the commander-in-chief, Maj. Raul Castro, thin-lipped, fanatical 30-year-old brother of the premier.

The Communists have penetrated the ranks of labor organizations. They are organized, disciplined and dangerous.

A "national unity" government would put the Communists in a good position to provoke angry, and ill-considered responses from the United States. These provide Latin-American Reds with what they need most: whipping boys as typical examples of "Yankee imperialism" trying to dictate to weaker countries.

There are few here who could accuse Castro himself of being Communist. What seems to be happening is that clashes involving North Americans tend to push the regime into the position of standing somewhere between being not antagonistic and being downright sympathetic to the Communist bloc.

At present the card-carrying Communists probably total about 12,000. Of these only a small number can be considered hard core, working for the interests of Moscow as transmitted by Juan Marinello, party president. Recently he was a glorified guest on a Communist-bloc tour.

The Communists seek diligently to create and maintain in Cuba a climate basically hostile to the United States. They may succeed if uninformed and impatient elements in the United States goad Castro's followers into more violent anti-U.S. postures.

Control by Law

(From The Toronto Globe and Mail)

PRESIDENT Eisenhower, who has sometimes been accused of standing aloof from domestic political battles, has thrown himself into the thick of the fierce controversy now raging over labor legislation. In his television speech Thursday night, he stressed the necessity of laws to curb racketeering and intimidation in union activity, and to protect union members against exploitation by corrupt and autocratic leaders. He went further and recommended passage of a specific measure — the Landrum-Griffin Bill now pending before the House of Representatives.

The background of this issue requires some explanation. For two and a half years, the Select Senate Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor and Management Field, under the chairmanship of Senator John Kennedy, has been bringing to light an appalling record of extortion and violence, misappropriation of union funds, alliances between union leaders and the underworld, and callous disregard for the rights of rank-and-file members.

The Teamsters' Union has figured prominently in these disclosures, but a number of other organizations have been involved as well. It has become obvious that corrective legislation is needed. Even the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations admits this as its president, Mr. George Meany, made clear when he spoke the same night as President Eisenhower. The real question is how far the legislation should go.

The different viewpoints involved are reflected in the three labor bills which are now before the House of Representatives. The Elliott Bill is based on a measure which was drawn up by Senator Kennedy, passed the Senate and was then watered down by a House committee. The Shelley Bill represents the views of the AFL-CIO. The Landrum-Griffin Bill, which the president has endorsed, was prepared by a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats.

All three of these bills contain clauses directed against the cruder forms of racketeering exposed by the Kennedy Committee. The Shelley Bill stops there. The other two go on to impose further limitations on union activity. Their general provisions are similar, but the Landrum-Griffin Bill is much tougher. Two comparisons may illustrate this.

Both measures set out a "bill of rights" for union members, including the right to participate in union meetings, to enjoy freedom of speech and assembly, to vote on dues and assessments, and to be protected from unfair disciplinary action. The Elliott Bill makes these rights enforceable by a civil action in the courts. The Landrum-Griffin Bill makes infringement a criminal offence if violation is involved.

Both bills require unions to file annual financial reports. The Elliott Bill exempts small unions. The Landrum-Griffin Bill admits no exceptions.

★ ★ ★

By endorsing the uncompromising Landrum-Griffin Bill, President Eisenhower has put himself in the black books of organized labor. He has aligned himself with that growing body of opinion which holds that labor unions—regardless of whether their leaders are personally honest—have acquired too much power, and that they need to be brought under tighter regulation by law, just as large corporations have been.

—JOHN DRYDEN.

Fairness or otherwise of taxing trailer homes like houses to help pay for education and other services is hot topic for Langford trailer park residents Arnold Edwards, Gordon Mercer and Albert Cherbonneau, chatting in front of mobile homes. Some say trailer dwellers are sponging on other homeowners. They say they're not.—(Colonist photo.)

★ ★ ★

They're Ready to Pay

★ ★ ★

Are Trailer Folk Parasites?

The quickly-growing number of people living in mobile homes has alarmed authorities in organized areas of B.C., who think trailer-dwellers aren't paying for their share of local services. In this article, The Daily Colonist explores the situation.

By R. O. MARRION

If they are parasites at all, and they say they are not, they're the nicest sort of parasites.

They—the people who live in B.C.'s thousands of trailer homes—send their children to school but don't pay school taxes.

In some areas they receive fire protection and other services and don't pay for these either.

Tax Search

That's why they are regarded as parasites by many of their taxpaying neighbors and why heads are being scratched in a search for a way to tax them like the rest of B.C.'s homeowners.

But they're not all that bad.

In the first place, a survey indicates, they will be ready to pay taxes when and if a way of taxing their mobile dwellings is put into effect as long as they are treated fairly and not double-taxed.

No Sponging

In the second place, a couple living in a trailer and sending one child to school isn't "unintentionally sponging" as much as a couple living in an average semi-rural house and sending two or more children to school. And large families and trailers don't usually go together.

In the third place, people in stay-at-home homes probably won't benefit much except in satisfaction at seeing the supposed free-loaders pay.

Double Tax?

Chief beneficiary will be the provincial treasury, to which trailer dwellers already contribute by paying sales tax when they buy their homes.

(Charging trailer dwellers for local services such as fire protection isn't so much of a problem. Power to collect from the trailer-owners exists, and Langford fire protection district for one is expected to use it soon.)

Still Unhappy

Nevertheless, local authorities still are unhappy.

"It's only necessary to see the growing number of trailer lots to realize they are going to cause an increasing headache until we can cause these sometimes expensive homes to contribute to the cost of services including education which they now receive free," Reeve C. A. P. Murison of North Cowichan told the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities this year.

Big Question

The association asked the Union of B.C. Municipalities to seek provincial government support for any solution, and government officials have gone to work mulling over the big question—How do you tax a taxiing home that may be in Colwood today and the Fraser Valley tomorrow?

One possible solution is a sort of licence fee equivalent to taxation on the assessed value of the trailer home, payable where the trailer is situated at tax time, but exempting the trailer elsewhere in the province for the remainder of the year.

Check Made

To substantiate some of the points made in defence of the trailer dwellers, the Colonist went visiting.

It found about 200 eight-foot and 10-foot-wide mobile homes, usually about 35 or 40 feet long, some as expensive as new houses without wheels, in southern Vancouver Island, mostly in Langford and Colwood, and the number is growing.

Children from the mobile homes, 55 children in the Sooke school district, are going to school. And the local share of the cost of a child's schooling in B.C. can be figured as running around $150 a year.

So Albert Cherbonneau of Langford said he wouldn't mind paying school taxes.

But, said some of his mobile neighbors, in their $20-a-month rental of trailer spaces they were already paying taxes indirectly, on property increased in assessed value because of its commercial use.

Some Saving

As to the homes themselves, a $6,000 trailer, assessed and taxed like a non-mobile house, would yield $45 a year in school taxes alone in Langford and Colwood, plus almost as much again in taxes for other provincial and local services.

"But hold on," Mr. Cherbonneau said. "That would be taxing everything in the home. The price is for a trailer ready to live in. All you have to do is move in your linen and pots and pans and dishes."

He went through a $7,995 ten-wide pointing out in the surprisingly spacious interior a de luxe gas range, electric refrigerator and dinette suite in the sunny kitchen; chesterfield in the carpeted living room; in the bathroom, besides full-size tub and shower, an automatic washer; and in the two beautifully-panelled, amply-closeted bedrooms, double beds.

The home was also equipped with oil furnace and air conditioner, taxable in non-roaming homes. It was hooked up to underground sewer, electric and water systems (normal arrangement in trailer parks.)

Key Issue

Said Mrs. Gordon Mercer: "You have to pay sales tax on a mobile home when you buy it."

"It would be double taxation," her husband agreed.

"The people living in trailers will be willing to pay taxes as soon as the people living in houses are ready to pay sales tax when they buy their homes," a bystander chipped in.

Would taxation of trailers as houses send trailer-dwellers back to living in houses and apartments?

Never Again

Oh, no, they said—not back to paying $90 a month when, after buying a mobile home (25 per cent down, furniture taken as part payment, and five years to pay at eight per cent interest), they could get along nicely on $40 a month for rent and all services.

But, they thought, taxation might be enough to deter some prospective venturers into the field of mobile living.

Refund the sales tax, they said, and apply local taxation on a fair basis, and it might not be too bad.

International Figures Coming For New Island Conference

Problems affecting Canada and the United States over a wide field will be the subject of discussions by a score of prominent international figures at a seminar next montn on the B.C. coast.

The conference, to take place at Twin Isles near Campbell River, is hosted by G. Max Bell, president of F-P Publications Ltd. which publishes the Victoria Colonist and Times and other papers across Canada.

It will be along the lines of the Pugwash conference, held in the east by industrialist Cyrus Eaton.

Papers will be presented and informal discussions held on a variety of topics involving joint interests of the two nations, including power, gas, oil, trade, labor, education, public affairs, the press and communications generally.

The visiting leaders will meet in Vancouver Sept. 10 and travel on Mr. Bell's yacht Campana to the Twin Isles estate. They will return Sept. 14 to Vancouver.

Among those attending, invited or taking prominent parts are Liberal Leader Lester Pearson; Congressman Frank Coffin of Maine; Blair Fraser, Ottawa writer; William Nicks, president of Imperial Oil Ltd.; William Whiteford, president of B.A. Oil; Premier Ernest Manning of Alberta and Frank Hall, Montreal.

Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union; Lawrence Laybourne, Canadian manager for Time Inc.; Mason Wade, Uni-Trudeau, Montreal advertising executive; Basil Walters, editor for the Chicago Daily News; Arthur Laro, executive editor the Houston (Texas) Post.

Charles Armstrong, ex-Victorian now president of the University of Nevada; Ralph Bunche of United Nations; Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana; Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts; Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York; Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York; Palmer Hoyt, Denver Post; Stuart Keate, publisher, and Bruce Hutchison, editor of the Victoria Daily Times.

"At Last! A car I can handle and park — and it's automatic"
"A real quality car — and it gives up to 32 m.p.g. on regular gas"
THE LOWEST PRICED AUTOMATIC DRIVE CAR IN CANADA IS THE 6-PASSENGER VANGUARD ENSIGN
Just check off the unique advantages of the Vanguard Ensign. Gives you Borg-Warner Automatic Transmission. Seats six adults with plenty of leg room. Powered by a lively sports type engine that makes driving fun. Has the ease of handling that makes a woman driver feel right at home. Costs as little to run as many small cars. Looks like a million—yet actually costs less to buy than any other car with automatic transmission. Also available with conventional Canadian three speed transmission. Logic says the Vanguard Ensign is your car. See it at our showrooms, and let your heart decide.

Steel Shares Main Losers At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials took their second sharp dip in less than a week as they led the stock market down in light trading.

On index, industrials slipped almost 4¼ points after rising the past two sessions. Monday they dropped almost six points. Base metals and golds were off more than one-third while western oils closed ahead .01 decimal points.

Steels were the big losers among industrials. Steel Company of Canada and Algoma Steel each lost 1¾ points while Dominion Foundries and Steel was off 1¼, at 48. Sicks Breweries dipped 3 at 25. Southam Company added 1 at 77.

Noranda dipped 1⅛ at 53⅞ while International Nickel and Gaspe Copper lost ½ in base metals. Hudson Bay and Falconbridge were off ⅜.

Dome Pete had the best gain in western oils, up 1¼ at 12. Pacific Pete added ¼ at 14⅞ but Hudson's Bay and Pembina were off ⅛ each.

Gas Stock Boosted

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices showed an irregularly weaker tendency with some losses extending to a point or more at the close of quiet trading.

Steels paced the decline with Stelco down 2 at 84¾, Algoma down 1¼ at 39¾ and Dofasco down a point at 48¼.

Papers and utilities were irregularly weaker. Moore lost a point at 43¾, Power Corp. was off ⅜ at 63½ and Donohue at 16½ was down ½. But Powell River, trading ex-dividend, improved a point at 37⅛ and Quebec Natural Gas was up ½ at 18½.

Penny stocks were mixed. New Mylamaque gained 20 cents at 2.18 and 10-cent gains were made by Penebec at 44 cents and Golden Age at 65 cents while Bouzan improved 9 cents at 60 cents. Quebec Cobalt dropped 13 cents to 1.35 while New Pacific Coal was off 11 cents at 90 cents.

New York Goes Slow

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks moved within a fairly narrow range in one of the slowest sessions in more than a year.

The widest price changes appeared in issues outside the group used to compile the averages.

American Ship Building showed one of the best gains in the list, it rose more than 5 points. There were a number of issues with gains and losses of 1 to 2 points.

Over-all, it was a listless market. Investors appeared to be marking time pending further clarification of economic and international political matters.

Lumber Stocks Gain

VANCOUVER — Changes were small in a quiet session. B.C. lumber stocks, which have been dull since the strike closure found some favor with B.C. Forest Products rising to $15, and MacMillan and Bloedel and Powell River both fractionally higher.

Alberta Distillers was 3.25 and B.C. Power $38¾.

Coppers were steady among mines, but Sheep Creek dropped five cents at 1.30 and Giant Mascot was easier at 25 cents.

Royal Canadian Ventures at 20 cents and Basco at 82 cents were most active in a firm oil market.

Dividends Declared

Walter M. Lowney, 25 cents, payable Oct. 15; record Sept. 15; xd Sept. 11.

Abitibi Power and Paper, common 42½ cents, preferred 28¾ cents, payable Oct. 1; record Sept. 1; xd Aug. 28.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices were fairly steady in moderately active trade on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Some buying was attributed to an unfavorable crop report released Wednesday by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 1,200,000 bushels, Japan 465,000, Belgium 155,000, The Netherlands 150,000, Italy 55,000, Colombia 45,000, Switzerland 40,000, Guatemala 20,000, West Germany 20,000.

Thousands of Fires Rage in Hiroshima, Devastated by Atom Blast

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Clinging Fear of Atom Hiroshima's Legacy

Atom bombs were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki 14 years ago, in August, 1945. There was instant devastation. The dead were buried and the cities rebuilt, but effects of nuclear bombardment still remain—along with a cloud of anxiety. This is the first of four articles exploring the survivors' difficult adjustment and the scientific basis for their continuing concern.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP)—A go-between was arranging pretty Katsuko Tanaka's marriage, and her heart was singing.

Suddenly the wedding was wrecked by one fearful word—radiation.

Parents of the young man learned Katsuko had lived in Hiroshima that shattering day 14 years ago when a city first died under an atomic bomb.

To them this meant she was tainted by radiation, genetically dangerous, likely to bear malformed children. Katsuko, in fact, had not been exposed to radiation—but that did not matter. Katsuko's name is fictitious. The incident is real, one expression of tragic psychological scars and anxieties in the wake of atomic warfare.

Young trees flourish now in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, which was bombed three days afterward. The cities have been rebuilt.

★ ★ ★

But there walks the spectre of fear and mystery of radiation and radioactivity, the new element unleashed by A-bombs. Much of this new tragedy appears avoidable.

Fear of "bad seed" leads some parents to oppose marriage of their children with A-bomb survivors, almost threatening a new class of atomic outcasts.

This fear persists despite an American-Japanese study of all 70,000 children born during 1948-54 in both cities. It found no significant difference in numbers of malformations, stillbirths, or defects between the offspring of survivors, and the children of parents not exposed to A-bombs.

Rumor, at least, says some employers hesitate to hire survivors because they may sicken later, obligating the boss to pay expensive benefits.

Officials and doctors tell of persons not wanting to become listed publicly as survivors, for marriage, job or other reasons.

★ ★ ★

Many survivors complain of chronic fatigue, although physicians cannot detect any physical causes. Some physicians think this is a psychological effect; a few wonder if it is due to undetected liver damage.

Parents everywhere are prone to think sometimes that their own children aren't making as good school grades as the parents expect.

In Hiroshima, some wonder if radiation is responsible, says Dr. Yoshiso Kubo, social psychologist of Hiroshima University.

"It's like having a crazy aunt then looking for symptoms of mental illness in your children," Kubo explains.

Dr. Kubo, personally interviewing 500 survivors, found many beset by vague psychological fears, including anxiety that physical examinations when they feel badly might bring the chilling diagnosis that they had been affected by radiation.

In Nagasaki, "there still is fear of the atom," says Katsuya Sato, governor of Nagasaki prefecture.

★ ★ ★

Japanese parents traditionally have checked on lineage whether any diseases known or supposed to be hereditary ran in the family their own son or daughter would marry into.

Some now have added fear of inheritable radiation effects to the list. It is difficult to plumb the extent of this.

A comparative study of actual human births, made by the atom bomb casualty commission, "shows it is safe to marry survivors," says director Dr. George Darling.

The genetic study for the first generation now is finished, although new babies are still being checked for sex ratio study, adds Dr. Hiroshi Maki, associate director.

One next step is trying to gauge the long-term or delayed effects which radiation may have brought.

Tomorrow: Radiation time-bombs?

Rolling Mill Next Step In Expanding Industry

★ ★ ★

Bonner Sees Wide Market For Aluminum

★ ★ ★

An aluminum rolling mill to service the western Canadian market may be a possibility in British Columbia before long, Trade Minister Robert Bonner said yesterday.

To ensure the future of the aluminum industry in B.C., Mr. Bonner said, the province should assume increasing importance as a market for aluminum products.

He pointed out that B.C. has an expanding aluminum fabricating industry in addition to the more publicized primary aluminum production facilities at Kitimat.

There are at present more than 150 plants in the province that manufacture aluminum products, including two operations that produce semi-fabricated products, he said.

Products of the aluminum industry include electrical conductors, roofing materials, architectural shapes and builders hardware.

Of the estimated 12,000,000 pounds of aluminum consumed by the fabricating industry, aluminum rod for the manufacture of wire accounted for 40 per cent, sheet plate and strip for 30 per cent, and the remainder was distributed among extrusions, ingots for casting, and tubing and pipe.

Briggs in Ottawa Today For Energy Board Session

First meeting of the newly-formed National Energy Board will be at 10.30 a.m. today in Ottawa with former B.C. Power Commission general manager H. Lee Briggs in attendance.

Named Tuesday to the energy board, he left yesterday morning to attend the meeting and is expected back in Victoria Saturday.

But he will leave Victoria for Seattle on Sunday to clean up on a consulting engineering job he has undertaken for an eastern firm.

Mr. Briggs, who was fired from his BCPC job for his outspoken attack on Socred policies in connection with the commission financing, said he will have to move from Victoria to Ottawa to take over his $16,000 a year job on the energy board.

Beryllium Uncovered

HALIFAX (CP) — The Nova Scotia mines department says workable deposits of beryllium—used in the nose cones of rockets—have been found on the province's south shore.

Pakistani President Applauded by Many

KARACHI (UPI)—Pakistan celebrates its 12th anniversary today with some deserved applause for its energetic new government.

Newspapers will carry thick supplements detailing the achievements of President Mohammad Ayub Khan, 51, and his military-backed regime.

Choruses of "President Ayub Zindabad" ("Long Live President Ayub") are certain to be heard in Karachi's newly-repaved streets.

Watching with understandably less enthusiasm will be scores of former politicians (banned by Ayub), hundreds of ex-civil servants (sacked by Ayub) and several depleted land owners (reformed by Ayub).

For thousands of others, the first nine months of Pakistan's benevolent military dynasty have been something to applaud, if not cheer wildly.

Ayub and his largely-civilian cabinet have curtailed black marketing, broken up a multi-million-dollar gold smuggling racket, proclaimed mild land reforms, stemmed a dangerous shrinkage of foreign exchange and built a 15,000-unit refugee housing project near Karachi.

'Hot Nucleus' In Milky Way May Be Star

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Scientists have known for years of a milky way "hot nucleus" reported by the Russians Wednesday, says one of its discoverers.

John Bolton, director of the California Institute of Technology's radio observatory, said if the Russians have found something new about the dense cloud of hot gas it is not apparent from news accounts.

Moscow radio said the nucleus' average temperature is 18,000 degrees. Bolton agreed, saying that already was known.

At Berkeley, Calif., however, another top astronomer termed the 18,000-degree figure new. He is Dr. Otto Struve, director of the national radio observatory at Greenbank, W. Va.

Asked if the dense nucleus might represent the birth of a new star, Dr. Struve said: "It is quite possible."

Blue Bombers' Power Erupts in Last Quarter

By JIM TANG
(Daily Colonist Sports Editor)

VANCOUVER — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, a team practically unchanged from the one that won the Grey Cup on this same field last November, ran wild in the fourth quarter here last night to trounce B.C. Lions, 42-20, in the opening game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

For three quarters, the Lions looked like the team 29,425 fans at Empire Stadium hoped they would be. But they collapsed in that final 15 minutes under a Bomber battering ram aimed by quarterback Jim Van Pelt.

Valt Pelt, a surprise starter, played with a cast on his wrist and still tossed three touchdown passes and scored one touchdown himself. But always the pass was used only as a threat to keep a weak Lion defence honest. It was the Bomber ground game that did the damage on defence, and a rampaging line that wrecked the Lions.

The Bomber formula was simple. Van Pelt and Charlie Shepard ripped through the middle for huge gains. When it wasn't Shepard it was Tony Keherer, a young Canadian who may develop into the new Gerry James. When the Lions tried to pack the centre, Leo Lewis scampered around the ends for more yardage, with occasional help from rookie Carver Shannon.

Shannon, the highly-touted speedster from University of Southern Illinois, was one of two newcomers to the Bomber club, and showed occasional flashes and a good turn of speed. The other was tackle Fred Cole from University of Miami, who turned in a solid game and proved that, if anything, the Bomber line is stronger than ever.

Although their defence, hurt by the absence of the injured Marty Martinello, collapsed in the late stages, there were bright spots for the Lions and for coach Wayne Robinson.

Randy Duncan, who got the nod from Robinson over Al Dorow at quarterback, played the entire game and showed that he can move the club. His passing was proficient, and once he surprised with a 27-yard run.

Another source of pleasure was guard Vic Kristopaitis, who scored 57 points with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four last year. He kicked field goals from 37 and 22 yards out, converted both Lion touchdowns, and turned in a workmanlike game in the line.

Lions were ahead by scores of 3-0 and 10-9, and in the first three quarters came back with a touchdown of their own each time the Bombers scored. But fumbles and penalties, two of them of the senseless variety, cost them whatever chance they might have had in the last quarter.

PENALTIES HURT

Bombers weren't penalized once, but the Lion penalties hurt. A no-yards penalty on a punt set up the Bombers third touchdown, making the score 22-13 in the third quarter, and although Duncan passed the Lions back upfield for a touchdown on a 16-yard run by Lavern Lofstrom, they were never in contention from that point.

In the fourth quarter, Van Pelt hit end Ernie Pitts for two touchdowns from the 13 and five-yard lines, and passed to Lewis from 11 yards out for another. Lewis' came after Duncan, hit hard by Herb Grey, fumbled and Roger Savoie recovered for the Bombers and took the ball 25 yards to the Lion 11-yard line.

One of the fourth-quarter touchdowns came as a direct result of two Lion penalties in succession, both for having too many men on the field. At the time, the Bombers were in a punting situation, but wound up with first down on the Lion 37-yard line, then the 27-yard stripe.

Statistically, Bombers outrushed the Lions 376 yards to 129, but were outpassed, 209 yards to 132. Duncan completed 11 passes out of 25 and had one intercepted. Winnipeg had 31 first downs, the Lions 15.

Duncan's favorite targets were end Jerry Janes, who seems to have one end spot sewed up, Paul Cameron, and Ed Vereb, who scored the other Lion touchdown.

Size No Factor in Alaskan League

Shamrocks Lose, 13-6, To New Westminster

NEW WESTMINSTER — Victoria Shamrocks, their playoff position already assured, wound up their Inter-City Lacrosse League schedule here last night by taking a 13-6 pasting from the league-champion New Westminster O'Keefe's.

The game, which meant nothing to either club, was played at a fast pace and only four minor penalties were called, three to New Westminster. Big feature, as is usually is at New Westminster, was the play of Jack Bionda.

Bionda got five goals, all unassisted, to finish the season with 144 points, nine better than the old league record set by Bill Wilson in 1937. Don Sepka, Stan Cowie and Ivan Stewart each scored twice for O'Keefe's, with Doug McRory and Billy Jobb adding the other goals.

Tom Collett was the only Shamrock to score twice. Bert Bertoia, Tom Druce, Ron Jay and Whitey Severson got the other goals and Al Gill, winner of the Shamrock most-valuable-player award, had three assists.

Shamrocks now rest until Monday, when they meet Carlings in Vancouver in the first game of a best-of-five semi-final series to decide who meets O'Keefe's in the finals.

Regular league play winds up tomorrow night in Nanaimo, where Labatts host Carlings.

Scorekeeper Gets Headache As Cubs and Giants Tangle

San Francisco Giants played Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field in Chicago yesterday, but fans couldn't be blamed if they thought they were watching the '49ers and the Bears.

It must have seemed more like football to the scorekeeper as the Cubs clobbered the league-leading Giants, 20-9, to cut their National League margin to 2½ games. It took three hours and 50 minutes—longest time for a nine-inning game in league history — to complete a donnybrook in which there were 31 base hits, eight home runs and 13 walks. During the festivities, Cub manager Bob Scheffing and pitcher Jack Sanford and second-baseman Daryl Spencer were ejected, and Giant manager Bill Rigney put in an official protest.

George Altman had five hits, including two homers. Alvin Dark hit a grand slammer, and Tony Taylor and Dale Long added homers for the winners. Willie Mays, Willie Kirkland and Jackie Brandt homered for the Giants.

BRAVES LOSE

Los Angeles Dodgers survived a five-run, ninth-inning rally by St. Louis Cardinals to come out with a 7-6 victory and move into second place. Milwaukee Braves dropped a 9-8 decision to Cincinnati and fell back to third.

Chicago White Sox held on to their 2½-game lead in the American League, beating Detroit Tigers, 9-0, as Early Wynn tossed a three-hitter for his 16th win of the season. The usually-light-hitting White Sox got homers from Jim Landis, Bubba Phillips, Earl Torgeson and Sherm Lollar.

Russ Kemmerer, who hadn't won since June 28, pitched Washington Senators to a 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees, and Harmon Killebrew provided the hitting with two doubles and a single. Bob Turley was the loser.

Cleveland Indians stayed within range of the White Sox by beating Kansas City Athletics, 7-5. Jack Harshman went all the way, giving up seven hits to get credit for the win, and Woody Held drove in four runs with a home run and a double.

City Swimmer Takes Two Races

KELOWNA—Sally Holland of Victoria won both the senior ladies 50 and 400-yard freestyle events here Thursday at the annual International Regatta swimming championships.

Miss Holland won the 50-yard event in a time of 27.2 to edge fellow Victorian Alice Genge who finished second in 27.8. She won the 400-yard event in 5.12.3, almost 24 seconds better than the time of runner-up Linda Silvey of Colfax, Wash.

Miss Holland also placed second in the 100-yard backstroke event that was won by Miss Genge.

Other Victoria winners were water skier Mike Cranston who won the junior boys' tricks events and Pam Crutchlow who won the junior women's 200-yard breaststroke.

Yolanda Leimann of Victoria was third in the junior women's water-skiing tricks.

A senior women's team from Victoria won the 400-yard freestyle event while a junior men's team placed fourth in the 200-yard medley relay.

Lights and Grass Amaze Alaskans

By LARRY ROSE

Amazed at the thoughts of playing under the lights and further yet on an infield with grass on it, Ketchikan, Alaska, all-stars were more than just curious onlookers at last night's opening game of the Regional Babe Ruth baseball playdowns.

Fifteen Ketchikan youngsters ranging from 13 to 15 years of age were awed spectators Thursday night as New Westminster edged The Dalles, Ore., 3-2 in a first-round game that attracted some 1,500 fans to Royal Athletic Park.

Tonight at 8.30 p.m., Ketchikan plays its first game outside of the far-away Alaska boundaries. Providing the opposition will be tournament host Victoria all-stars. A game at 6.30 will see Seattle King County meet Casper, Wyo.

'NOT A BLADE'

Ketchikan coach Henry Okeo was just as impressed as his team at last night's proceedings. "Up in Alaska we've never played under the lights. Our home field hasn't got a blade of grass on the infield."

"Our boys are naturally a little nervous but we'll be giving it everything we have when we play Victoria. After coming this far we intend to put up a good showing and I'm sure that the boys can do it."

Accompanying the team is Ketchikan league president Ted Vanderweist. Manager Harry Ludwigson will add vocal support, although it may not be needed as Ketchikan has already become sentimental favorite.

BY DONATION

To compete in this tournament, Ketchikan had to raise $1,700 to cover travelling expenses. Local residents donated the money, most of it coming from parents of boys on the team.

In Thursday's game, New Westminster had to score two sixth-inning runs to edge The Dalles. The tying and winning runs were scored without the aid of a base hit, sending New Westminster into Saturday's semi-final play.

Losing pitcher Dave Roberson allowed just two hits, both singles, but was victim of a shakey Oregon infield that committed five errors, and eventually accounted for all the New Westminster scoring.

ON AN ERROR

A balk by winning pitcher Dave Young had given The Dalles a 2-1 lead in the sixth after New Westminster had earlier overcome a 1-0 deficit by scoring a run on an error in the third.

A walk to Peter Eidet and an error on Ken McDonald's infield smash paved the way for the B.C. champions' win. Eidet stole third and scored on a wild pitch while McDonald raced in with the winner on a perfect squeeze bunt by Bill Abrams.

McDonald had cut down the potential third The Dalles run with a perfect throw from centrefield in the sixth inning.

Pitcher Young gave up seven hits, three of them extra-base blows, but struck out nine, mostly in clutch situations.

Young Vancouverite Loses to New Yorker

TORONTO (CP) — Gayle Hitchens, 15-year-old Vancouver blonde with ice water in her veins, bowed out of the Canadian women's Open golf championship at the quarter-final stage Thursday, but she proved she has the shots and temperament to become a star.

Under critical observation after a giant-killing 5 and 4 victory over five-time Open winner Ada Mackenzie of Toronto in Wednesday's second round, the five-foot three-inch youngster lost 3 and 2 to 27-year-old Mrs. Bruce McGhie in the eights.

Mrs. McGhie, three-time New York State champion from the Whippoorwill Club in suburban New York, now joins defending champion Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto; Mrs. Marley Spearman, 31-year-old English woman from the Sudbury Golf Club in Middlesex, and Mrs. Mary Jane McCarter of Toronto in today's 18-hole semi-finals.

Mrs. Streit walloped Judy Darling of Montreal 6 and 5, Mrs. Spearman was taken to the 18th before beating out Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, 2 up, and Mrs. McCarter sidelined Janet McWha, 24-year-old Montreal school teacher, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Streit meets Mrs. Spearman in one semi-final bracket and Mrs. McGhie and Mrs. McCarter fill the other.

Tiremen's Pitching Paces Playoff Win

D & D Tire got four-hit pitching from Dennis Beaulac last night and trounced Half Way House, 13-2, as play continued in the double-knockout Senior Open Softball playoffs at Central Park.

Beaulac struck out seven and walked only one in coasting to the win. Meanwhile, the Tiremen were pounding starter Stan Wargo and Marc Cunningham for 13 hits. Bob Embleton had a double and a single and scored three runs for the winners.

In section two competition at Heywood Avenue Park, Tudor House bounced Six Mile House, 16-9.

Play continues in both divisions tonight at 6.45, when Duncan meets Morrisons at Central Park in a replay of their 8-8 tie game, and Maycocks take on MacNutt's at Heywood Avenue Park.

Speaking Briefly

Durelle Goes Home, Still Sobbing

Yvon Durelle was still crying and Archie Moore was busy making offers and considering offers—all of them involving big money.

That was the situation last night, 24 hours after Moore defended his light-heavyweight title by knocking out Durelle in the third round in Montreal. Durelle, depressed and still tearful, said he plans to fight now as a heavyweight, and retire after three or four fights.

Durelle had cried uncontrollably in his dressing room after the fight. He was still crying when he climbed off the plane yesterday in Moncton, and sobbing later when he left the house of manager Chris Shaban.

Moore was in a much happier state of mind. After offering Ingemar Johansson a $1,000,000 guarantee for a crack at the heavyweight title, Moore airily dismissed the Swede as "a bungler who would be no problem." He is also considering a tentative offer to fight partially-recognized middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson.

In Sweden, Johansson said he is interested in meeting Moore, but that he will defend against ex-champion Floyd Patterson first.

* * *

FRANK HOGAN, New York district attorney, said yesterday that a month-long investigation of the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson title fight has failed to turn up any definite underworld influence . . . Adding further fuel to the muddled heavyweight boxing scene, Rocky Marciano has repeated statements that he would consider a comeback fight against Johansson, and the Swede says he is definitely interested . . . Pete Rademacher scored a fifth-round technical knockout over Tommy Thompson in a main event bout last night in Columbus, Ga. . . The Pan American Games torch of freedom was swiped from a boy scout honor guard in McAlester, Okla., by a boy with a sack over his head, but later returned by two other youngsters. Charles Turnbo, 18, was arrested on suspicion . . . B.C. Lions have placed quarterback Mitch Ogiego on waivers . . . Mason Rudulph shot a four-under-par 67 yesterday for a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $25,000 Motor City open golf tournament in Detroit.

* * *

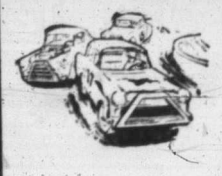

STAN MUSIAL, aging star of St. Louis Cardinals who is currently hitting only .267, will be benched for much of the rest of the National League season in favor of younger players, but will probably sign again next season . . . Contract of manager Paul Richards of Baltimore Orioles was extended yesterday for two years for a reported $40,000 . . . Art Fowler, top pitcher for Spokane last season, has been returned to the PCL club by Los Angeles Dodgers in a swap that sends pitcher Chuck Churn to the Dodgers . . . Portland Beavers yesterday purchased outfielder Len Tucker from Vancouver Mounties . . . A record purse of $19,240 has been assured for tomorrow's Canadian Derby in Edmonton, with 10 horses entered.

Nanaimo Drivers 'Comers'

Nanaimo stock car drivers, who placed only two men in the top 10 last year, are making their presence felt in the point standings this season at races in Nanaimo and at Western Speedway.

Official standings show that Victoria ace Dave Cooper is still well out in front, but Nanaimo drivers now hold down six of the top 10 positions. They will be out to improve their positions tomorrow night, when the stockers roll again at the Millstream Road oval.

Cooper, Island driving champion for the past two seasons, has 224½ points, 21 more than has been amassed by the No. 9 car driven now by Dave McLellan.

Bob Clark of Nanaimo holds down third place with 195¾ points, followed by clubmate Hank Neilson with 179. Victoria's Al Smith is fifth with 163½ and then it's an all-Nanaimo show until Dick Varley pops up in 10th place. Harry Roberts, Doug Bowell, Red Burke and Ray Pottinger are all hunched closely behind Smith.

Dick Varley, the Island's No. 2 driver last year and winner of the main event and trophy dash last Saturday, will be back in action tomorrow night. Tim trials start at 7:30.

Blakely Meets Green For Seniors Crown

Two "youngsters" in the ranks of the Seniors Northwest Golf Association tee off at Victoria Golf Club this morning in search of the Barnard Cup and the association championship.

Bill Blakely, 58-year-old Tacoma investment banker and 1957 champion, meets 57-year-old Tom Green of Seattle in the 18-hole final after impressive victories yesterday.

Blakely has been in the association only three years while Green, medalist this year, is making his second appearance.

Green, a three-handicapper, shot a three-over-par 72 yesterday in sidelining 1952 champion Roger Peck of Tacoma, 2 and 1. Blakely, a one-time semi pro baseball player with a three-handicap, shot a 74 and defeated Seattle's Forest Watson, 3 and 2.

Finals in all 12 classes of the event will be played today starting at 9 a.m. Green and Blakely start at 9.35 from the first tee.

Minor Teams In Playoffs

Four teams from the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association teams meet mainland champions tomorrow and Sunday in Nanaimo in two-game total-point series for B.C. titles.

Names of the mainland teams are not known. Saanich Tigers play their pee wee division game; Punjab United enter the bantam final at 2 p.m.; Saanich plays the juvenile "B" mainland champs at 4 p.m., and Butler Brothers juvenile "B" team play at 6 p.m. Second games Sunday will be played at the same times.

All pee wee and bantam players will leave Stevenson Park tomorrow at 10 a.m.

Marylebone Captures Match On Barber's Sharp Bowling

VANCOUVER— Marylebone Cricket Club took two wickets in the last over, one of them on the last ball of the match, to defeat the B.C. mainland all-star side in an exhibition match here yesterday.

Victory kept the touring club's unbeaten record intact, although two eastern Canada sides held the English cricketers to draws. The tour continues today and tomorrow here with a two-day match against the western Canada all-stars, and MCC meets Victoria all-stars Sunday at Victoria's Beacon Hill Park.

Yesterday, MCC declared with 249 runs for six wickets after 3½ hours of play and began the last over with the B.C. side 134 for eight. A draw was indicated, but Robert Barber, a 23-year-old Cambridge cricketer who was a sensation as a schoolboy at Ruthin, took the last two wickets without permitting a run. He cleanbowled Robin Johnston, then had George Nugent stumped by wicket keeper A. C. Smith on the last ball of the match.

TOP BATSMAN

R. M. Prideau, a Cambridge freshman, was leading batsman with 66 runs. Smith was 53 not out and D. J. Green scored 49. Barber was MCC's leading bowler, taking three wickets for 19 runs. Smith took three for 39.

Lloyd Edwards, formerly a Trinidad college player, had 30 runs for B.C., and Dave Foster and Dr. Michael Edwards were 36 not out. Livingston was at bat more than 90 minutes. Robin Johnston was the leading B.C. bowler, taking three wickets for 53 runs.

Team captain Dennis Silk, 21, said yesterday that the MCC club has found Canadian cricket "very strong," and that he expects to meet stiff opposition in all the Western Canada matches.

When the MCC club comes to Victoria Sunday, it will be up against the pick of the Victoria and District Cricket Association.

Bob Mainwaring will captain the Victoria side, with Jim Richards as vice-captain. Other members of the club will be Gill Ferriera, Jerry Breckon, Paul Gadban, Jack Sparks, Peter Clarke, Keith Bickmore, Rob Wilson, Ken Ackroyd and John Moss.

Junior Fish Derby Deadline Tomorrow

Youngsters wishing to take part in the annual Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association junior derby Aug. 23, have until tomorrow night at 5:30 to enter and pick up their derby tickets.

Officials announced yesterday that those who haven't as yet entered may do so by filling out entry blanks which appeared in Aug. 1 and Aug. 8 editions of The Daily Colonist, and taking them to any city sporting goods store or boathouse to exchange for derby tickets. Copies of the Aug. 1 and Aug. 8 Colonists at the Broad Street offices of The Daily Colonist.

First prize in the derby will be an Eaton Glider bicycle, with a complete fishing kit offered as second prize. Refreshments will be served and there will be about 100 hidden-weight prizes.

Weigh-in station will be the Anchorage Boathouse.

Jokers Win 'B' Crown

Jokers won the Vancouver Island senior "B" lacrosse championship last night by defeating Foul Bay Tugmen, 7-4, in the deciding game of a best-of-three series at Stevenson Park.

Jokers had taken the opening game, 8-2, but lost the second, 4-3, last Tuesday. Their next stop is Vancouver, where they play the mainland representatives Saturday and Sunday, with the winners advancing to the B.C. final at Armstrong the following weekend.

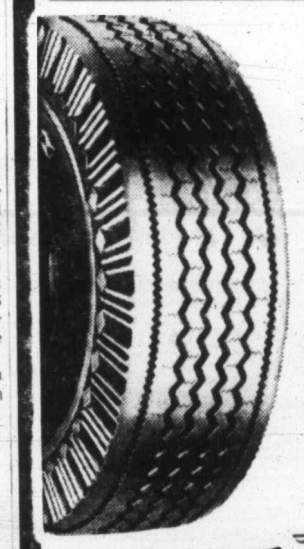

From there the B.C. champs move to Calgary for the Western Canada finals Aug. 29-30 and 31.

Whitey Wakelyn led Jokers last night with three goals. Norm Parker got two and Art Green and Len Scott each scored once. George Wilson, with two goals, Steve Kapasky and Dave Edgar scored for Foul Bay.

King Fisherman

New Leader in Coho Division

Charlie Newman kept a promise made to his brother-in-law recently, and wound up the new coho division leader in the Daily Colonist King Fisherman.

Newman, Prospect Lake Road, had promised to take Willi Ruchti of Galt, Ont., on a fishing trip. The pair started out from Hall's Boathouse at Dawn Tuesday, and Newman landed a 19-pound coho. The fish, unusually large for coho this time of year, was taken to provincial biologists, where its species was verified, and entered in the King Fisherman Contest.

Newman and Ruchti fished from dawn to 7 a.m. and finished with a limit catch of eight salmon—18:8, 12:8, 9:0, 8:0 and three smaller in addition to the big coho. All were taken on Minnow-Teaser using 200-275 feet of wire line with a planer.

Brutality Charged In Nursing Home

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—"Toenails were pulled from the feet of patients as punishment for alleged misconduct," a grand jury said Wednesday in a report on its investigation of an Evansville nursing home.

The grand jury asked Prosecutor O. H. Roberts to take action against the operators of the nursing home.

The report also said patients were punished for bed wetting "by pouring a disinfectant upon parts of their bodies."

The grand jurors added there was evidence that "elderly and senile patients were placed in chairs under restraint and left for as long as eight hours."

Car-on-Air Coming Soon

Cars which travel on air will be built by the Curtiss-Wright Corp. at South Bend, Ind., starting in November. The four-passenger, 300-horsepower vehicles are designed to travel over land or water at height of six to 12 inches and maximum speed of 60 miles-an-hour. Air cars have no wheels, transmission or clutches.—(AP Photofax.)

Case Against Carole May Fall to Pieces

WEST COVINA, Calif. (UPI) — The prosecution's case against Carole Tregoff, accused as an accomplice in the slaying of her boy friend's estranged wife, "may collapse like a house of cards," Judge William Martin cautioned Thursday.

His remarks came during the second day of a preliminary hearing for Miss Tregoff, red-haired ex-model accused of conspiring with Dr. Bernard Finch to kill his wife July 18.

The judge warned Prosecutor Fred Whichello "the keystone to the arch of this case" was admissibility of testimony Carole made last month at Finch's preliminary hearing. Without the testimony, he said, the state's case could collapse and the charge would be dismissed.

Whichello was then permitted to bring out any out-of-court statements Miss Tregoff might have made to police.

Whichello called Sheriff's Det. Hiram Powell of Las Vegas, who testified Miss Tregoff was warned any statement she made when Finch was arrested in the Nevada city the day after the killing could be used against her.

Attorney Robert Neeb contends the constitutional rights of the defendant, charged with murder after she completed testifying at the Finch trial, were violated. He made it clear the first attempt to introduce testimony by Miss Tregoff, 22, at the earlier hearing will be met with a motion to dismiss it.

Wife Held Key

Ex-Convict Admits 'Mad-Dog' Slayings

ISLIP, N.Y. (UPI)—Francis Bloeth, 27-year-old construction worker, has confessed the "mad-dog" slayings of three persons on Long Island, authorities said Thursday.

Bloeth, an ex-convict, confessed after hours-long pleading by his wife to tell the truth, they said.

The burly suspect had been held on a robbery charge in another case while police tried to link him definitely to the murders.

The three night workers had been slain over a span of eight days in holdups that netted the killer less than $400. A witness had identified Bloeth as the holdup man who played a game of "Russian roulette" with the victim as the target.

Bloeth, who had been held for three days by authorities convinced of his guilt, had steadfastly maintained he was innocent.

The wanton slayings had terrified communities throughout this section of Long Island.

Abandoned Mother Planned To Give Away Her Family

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — A destitute mother, not knowing where to turn for help, gave away several of her eight children and planned to give the others up for adoption, police disclosed Thursday.

Mrs. Opie Quisenberry, 28, was held on suspicion of abandonment while authorities undertook an investigation.

"I didn't know what to do," she said. "Even if I got all my children back, I still couldn't take care of them. After all, I don't have any money."

Authorities learned Mrs. Quisenberry gave up all of the children — placing them with friends, relatives and others who would take them, after her husband left her about five weeks ago.

She reached the desperate decision to part with her children when her house rent came due and other bills came in and the family's food supply ran out.

Shotgun, Axe

Woman Charged in Killing Victims' Bodies Scattered

ANNISTON, Ala. (UPI)—A grand jury indicted stout, blackhaired Viola Hyatt on two murder counts Thursday for the torso slayings of two brothers, Emmett and Lee Harper.

The 32-year-old woman has confessed that she killed the men with shotgun blasts and dismembered the bodies with a double-edged axe. Portions of the bodies were found in June across three counties. Miss Hyatt was arrested July 16 and confessed the following day.

The first torso was found June 27 and the second victim the next day.

The shootings followed a drinking bout and an argument over Miss Hyatt's use of Lee's car, she said.

The brothers were killed near their home-made trailer in which they lived within a short distance of the Hyatt farm.

His Funeral Was Phony

IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—Police Thursday arrested a 33-year-old Asheboro, N.C., salesman who staged a phony drowning in Georgia "to get away from it all" and for whom memorial rites were held last Saturday.

L. C. Pettis was the object of an intensive search after his overturned motorboat was found June 4.

Pettis had been living here for two weeks under an assumed name. He blamed ragged nerves and a stomach ulcer for his attempt to start a new life.

Delegates Yell Insults, Threats

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Delegates from Cuba and the Dominican Republic shouted insults at each other Thursday night at the end of an inter-American foreign ministers' conference session. Later, the Cubans claimed the Dominicans had threatened Cuban foreign minister Raul Roa with death.

Roa and Dominican Foreign Minister Porfirio Herrera Baes quarrelled after the Cuban denounced the Dominican Republic in a speech.

After the stormy evening session ended, the Cuban ambassador to Chile, Carlos Lechuga, issued a statement saying that one Dominican delegate threatened Roa with death before a number of witnesses.

Lechuga also claimed that Roa had received a similar threat Wednesday, warning him not to attack the Dominican regime in his conference speech.

The Dominican foreign minister said the Cuban claims were "absolutely false."

Roa, in his speech before the delegates, accused the Dominican Republic of violating the principle of non-intervention with radio broadcasts directed against the Cuban revolutionary regime.

Eisenhower Victorious In Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives handed President Eisenhower a smashing victory Thursday by approving a bill he said is needed to end corruption in labor unions.

The vote was a stinging defeat for Democratic leaders and leaders of organized labor who had fought for a milder anti-racketeering bill.

Toymaking Family

Children Judges

Whims Dictate Success

The whims of children dictate the prosperity of one successful Victoria enterprise, and also decide in which direction its production facilities will turn next.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blair, 85 Burnside West, are operators of a thriving business built on the judgment of children.

It's a toy business, to be sure, but grey-haired and smiling Mrs. Blair thinks adults in all walks of life could learn something from children.

"You can trust kids' opinion," she says. "They're so honest their opinions go a long way."

From time to time, seven grandchildren and dozens of kids from the neighborhood are invited to try out the latest models in her toy line.

"I never say to them, 'look, isn't this lovely,'" says Mrs. Blair. "I just see which ones get their attention. We get all kinds of ideas from kids."

Swan rockers, pinto ponies, dolls' high chairs, kindergarten sets, boats and airplanes, are fashioned from wood by her husband, 76, with pride born of his apprenticeship as a carriagemaker in his native Northern Ireland.

An order for four dozen wooden tanks from a local department store started Mr. Blair making toys for sale as a part-time occupation.

"Children never get tired of the tried and true toys," he says. "We made and sold 10,000 spinning tops in one year—that was our biggest single order. But our best seller over the years has been the doll's high chair."

Orders for their toys come in from many parts of Canada and as far south as California.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair have the part-time help of son, Donald, 35, and their remaining son and two daughters pitch in to help production when they return home for a visit.

Tank Car 'Bomb' Made Harmless

FRIESLAND, Wis. (UPI)—A railroad wrecking crew succeeded last night in opening the safety valve of a derailed railroad tank car which threatened to blow up the village of Friesland with leaking propane gas.

For 21 hours, the tank car had lain upside down in the wreckage of a building, sending a steady stream of the explosive gas through this village of 450.

The tank car was a potential blockbuster bomb. Surrounded by tanks containing a total of 300,000 gallons of propane and gasoline, the slightest spark could have touched off an explosion which would have levelled this village.

A Chicago and North Western crew of 12 men, operating a heavy crane mounted on the tracks, became the heroes of Friesland.

Failing to get the tank car back onto the tracks, they tipped it gingerly onto its side.

For the first time since the derailment at 9 p.m. Wednesday, the safety valve of the car was freed. Within moments, hoses were attached and the propane was flowing safely into storage tanks.

25,000 Items Gone?

New Curator Fires 140 Museum Guards

CAIRO (AP)—The government's new emergency curator at the Egyptian museum fired 140 guards Thursday and moved swiftly to protect its treasured antiquities from further thievery.

The sudden reform measures are being put into force by Salim Hassan, noted Egyptologist who was brought out of retirement to take over after it was discovered accidentally that 33-centuries-old sceptre of the Pharaoh Tutankhamen had vanished from the museum.

It was reported subsequently that many—perhaps 25,000 items—had disappeared in the last 30 years of slipshod handling at the museum. The total value is beyond estimate.

Besides ordering the 140 guards replaced, Hassan began recruiting a staff of Egyptologists to conduct the museum's first inventory in 30 years.

Egyptologist Kamal Malakh estimated that the missing sceptre would be worth about $2,000,000 to a foreign museum. A gold-studded horse collar is also missing.

Sopping-Up Operations Break Down

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Sopping-up operations have come to a standstill at an army beer cache on St. Lawrence Island because of a broken-down bulldozer.

The beer—some 7,000 cases—was burned and buried in 1957 when the last troops left. But enterprising youths from the nearby community of Gambell have periodically delved into the cache.

A 20-man army team was sent to destroy it. The civilian-owned bulldozer broke down soon after some cases were uncovered.

The beer should be disposed of—one way or another—in about 10 days, an army spokesman said. The cans he's seen didn't look appetizing. They were puffed and rusted.

Driver Dies Saving Crowd

FIELD, B.C. (CP) — An Alberta truck driver was killed Wednesday when he stayed in his runaway tractor-trailer and guided it safely past about 100 sightseers on the Trans-Canada Highway in the Kicking Horse Pass.

RCMP said Donald McClain of Rimbey, Alta., could easily have jumped to safety when the air brakes on his vehicle failed. Instead he stayed at the wheel to avoid hitting the sightseers. A companion jumped and escaped injury.

Austrians, Germans Flee Floods

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters) — Raging floods brought destruction and death to Austria and southern Germany Thursday.

At least eight persons were reported to have died.

Hundreds of townsfolk and tourists in west central Austria and Bavaria were forced to flee from homes and hotels as steady, continuous rain caused many rivers to burst their banks.

Serious flooding was reported in Vienna, the provinces of Salzburg, Styria, upper Austria, lower Austria and across the border in southeastern Bavaria.

At least three persons were drowned, one woman died of shock in her flooded home and two more were killed by lightning accompanying the storms.

Damaged telephone lines threw communications into chaos.

Inspect Books Alberni Local Tells Bennett

PORT ALBERNI — Premier Bennett has been invited, "if he has the guts," to inspect books and records of strike fund administration of 4,000-member Local 1-85 International Woodworkers of America.

A similar challenge was made the Vancouver local.

A wire was sent to the premier by president W. F. Allen, stating that officers and members of the Port Alberni organization are surprised that the prime minister of the province should, through press reports, question the honesty and integrity of the people charged with responsibility of administrating the IWA strike fund.

BIG CONCENTRATION

This area has probably the heaviest concentration of woodworkers in B.C.

"Press reports indicate that you have been receiving letters from IWA members or their wives concerning the administration of the IWA strike fund," the union wire said. "We do not doubt that the premier's office at all times receives letters of complaints on all matters relating to schools, roads, prison reform, union activity, welfare payments and so on.

"Complaints made of the penurious amounts available through the welfare department of your government has not and must not in any way be construed as questioning the integrity of the welfare department or its employees, nor should it be construed as indicating failure of the department to abide by the rules and regulations concerning welfare assistance," according to Mr. Allen's telegram.

INDICATES SATISFACTION

In inviting the premier to look at the IWA local's books, Mr. Allen said, "failure to accept the invitation at your earliest convenience will be understood as indicating your satisfaction that the strike fund is being administered in the interest of IWA members, their wives and their families."

JOHN SQUIRE
... cloak of suspicion

★ ★ ★

Bennett 'Went Too Far'

PORT ALBERNI—John Squire, CCF MLA who is recording secretary of Local 1-85 IWA, said yesterday that Premier Bennett had "gone a little too far" when he questioned administration of the International Woodworkers of America strike relief fund.

"Every day hundreds of letters pour across Premier Bennett's desk and the desks of his cabinet ministers complaining about some matter or another, but never before in the seven-year history of his office has the premier ever made public acknowledgment of such correspondence. Surely it must be a matter to cause some questioning in the minds of the people of B.C.

CALLS CRANKS

"And yet, because of a few letters written to him by people to whom he usually refers as cranks, he calls for a public enquiry into a union fund and thus casts a cloak of suspicion on myself and hundreds of other people in the labor movement.

"Just who is this man who implies that all his own acts are ultra-honest and above reproach and yet suggests the acts of all others in society bear close watch?

"For a case in point, let the public reconsider his shameful treatment of H. Lee Briggs who has recently been vindicated by the federal government.

SIMILARITY ENDS

"Premier Bennett and myself have only one thing in common and that is that we are both elected members of the legislature. Beyond that point, all similarity ends for I want no part of his bumptious, supercilious, pseudo-honest Barnum and Bailey method of dealing with the affairs of B.C.

"It is my opinion that he has gone a little far in his suggestion of wrong doing against officers and committee members of the IWA."

Kyuquot Committee Urges

'Probe Fishermen's Union'

'Housecleaning' Needed

KYUQUOT — Fishermen and their wives here have formed a committee to press for a thorough investigation of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union.

"We have formed ourselves into the Kyuquot committee for the purpose of pressing for an official investigation of the aims, methods and general activities of the UFAWU. We believe that a complete housecleaning of that organization is vital to the well-being of the fishing industry, this province and ultimately the nation itself," a group spokesman from this west coast fishing village said.

'COMPANY-INSPIRED'

But Homer Stevens, general secretary of the UFAWU, was not impressed with the aims and objects of the committee when told about them last night.

"Sounds like something inspired by the companies," he said. "If they want to investigate something in the industry they should investigate the profits of the big companies exploiting them as well as us."

NOT ANTI-LABOR

Mrs. Mary Gibson, secretary of the Kyuquot committee, said that it is in no sense an anti-labor group, but members feel such an inquiry was needed in the interests of decent and legitimate trade-unionism. She said members feel it is time for individual citizens to express their opinions and take what actions they can.

Although the strike in the fishing industry is ended, "the disruptive forces" behind it remain as an ever-present danger to the public good, the committee said.

Some 5,500 fishery workers returned to work Sunday after being called out on strike by the UFAWU.

Telegrams have been sent to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Premier Bennett and the federal fisheries minister.

PACTS ON FILE

"If they were sincere about finding out something about the union they could find out," Mr. Stevens said. "All our agreements are on file at the departments of labor at Victoria and Ottawa."

He said a special study of UFAWU agreements was made in 1947 by the federal department of labor and a report was published in the Labor Gazette as a part of a general study of labor agreements across Canada.

He said the committee sounds like "somebody who has not even bothered to study trade unionism. When people go out on strike, other workers are sometimes affected by it. The least they can do, if they are working people, is to stand by the workers on strike.

"Otherwise instead of disruption by the union, they become a disruptive group themselves only useful to employers," Mr. Stevens argued.

"I would venture a guess there isn't a union member in the committee," he added.

Centre-Island Suicide Rate 'Shock' to Health Officer

NANAIMO — Nanaimo needs a resident psychiatrist in the worst way.

This fact was brought to light when an American Psychiatric Association research team was in Nanaimo yesterday.

HIRE PSYCHIATRIST

Among 11 recommendations made to Dr. Mathew Ross, medical director of the association, was that a resident psychiatrist be hired for this area.

Senior public health officer for central Vancouver Island, Dr. C. J. G. MacKenzie, suggested the psychiatrist would receive approximately $18,000 a year to start.

QUALIFIED MAN

He said unless the wage was attractive "we won't get a qualified man to leave a larger centre."

Dr. MacKenzie said he was shocked by the high rate of suicides in the central part of the Island.

The rate is 18 per 100,000 population. He said he thought Ontario had a high rate with half as many.

CONTRIBUTED TO BRIEF

Fifteen organizations or individuals in the area contributed to the brief.

Another pressing need is hospital space. The Nanaimo General Hospital is crowded at the present time and this situation will not be alleviated until 1961 or 1962, when the new regional hospital is expected to be completed.

250 PSYCHOTICS

Members of the Nanaimo Medical Society say they treat about 250 psychotics a year.

In the high schools there are about 75 emotionally disturbed pupils a year. At Brannan Lake School 350 boys a year could benefit from psychiatric help, Dr. Ross was told.

The mental survey is being carried out at the request of the provincial government. Also travelling with the team of American doctors is Dr. Allan Davidson, deputy health minister for B.C.

One in Million Shot by Diver End of Shark

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—A nine-foot hammerhead shark menaced two skin divers for half an hour Thursday before falling victim to a "one-in-a-million" shot from one of the diver's spear guns.

Don Ide, 32-year-old music teacher, killed the shark with one shot from his spear gun about ¼ mile off shore near La Jolla.

In the same general area, a killer shark dragged an experienced diver under and killed him in April, and another shark recently attacked a lifeguard and ripped his leg before being driven away.

Ide, who was diving with Joe Turner, 24, said the shark watched them and made passes toward them for about half an hour before he finally shot the shark in the mouth.

HELD HIM OFF

"He circled us about 20 minutes. First he would attack me and then Joe. We held him off with our spear guns," Ide said. "Finally he took the end of my spear in his mouth.

"I pulled the trigger. It was a shot in a million."

AFTER HALIBUT

They were on the bottom when the shark started following them, Ide said. Attempts to scare it away failed. Ide said he thought the shark was after a halibut that he had speared and hung on his belt.

He said he tried to pull the fish off his belt, but couldn't.

"I was winded," he explained. "I had to work with a heavy aqualung on my back, too."

Mortgage Drive Misses

Canvassers last night failed to raise the $4,600 which they hoped would pay off the mortgage on the Langford home of a woman whose husband died while fighting a bush fire July 25.

Langford Fire Chief Rod Bayles said donations totalled about $1,600 when the drive ended. He expected more money to come in from pledges and ticket receipts for a dance tonight in the fire hall.

He said donors may still contribute to the fund by telephoning the Langford fire hall at GR 8-2345.

Shoe Repair Shop New Post Office

New post office for Langford, which has gone without service since Aug. 1, will be in a shoe repair shop at 745 Goldstream, about half a block from the former post office operated by radio repairman Douglas Price.

Victoria postmaster Robert Reid said last night that the new office, known as Victoria sub-post office No. 17 and operated by Joseph Gudbault, will open either late today or Saturday morning.

Langford has been without a post office since Douglas Price gave up the service after being notified by the post office that his $130 monthly payments were to be reduced by $30.

He said that he had to hire a woman full time to handle the post office and that he also had to put in about 40 hours a month of his own time on it, and that the $130 wasn't enough to "cover the wages for one good clerk."

Mr. Reid said he didn't know how much the new local postmaster will be paid. He said his earnings will depend entirely upon his volume of business and that payments would vary from month to month.

'Unsafe' Snorkels Banned by Divers

A type of skindivers' breathing apparatus, condemned yesterday by a Port Coquitlam coroner's jury as unsafe, has been banned by Victoria skindiving clubs for more than a year.

A Victoria Reef Rovers Club spokesman said yesterday the type of "snorkel" used by a 15-year-old Port Coquitlam boy who drowned in a slough "is taken away from our new members if we see them with one."

Harry Cross, a director of the club, said experienced skindivers use a simple tube shaped like the letter "J".

The type banned by the club and similar to the one involved in the Port Coquitlam drowning has a ball-type check valve which is intended to prevent water from entering the tube while submerged.

Mr. Cross said the ball occasionally gets stuck in the tube and prevents breathing. Instead of surfacing, the inexperienced swimmer, sometimes panics and tragedy results.

He said persons interested in becoming skindivers should join a recognized club or get professional instruction and learn which equipment is considered safe and which is not approved.

Legislation proposed by the coroner's jury to ban unsafe diving equipment would be difficult to enforce, he said.

Three Bites Too Many For Dog

Three bites are too many.

Victoria police said last night the SPCA will destroy a dog which is known to have bitten at least three persons.

Third victim was identified as four-year-old Judie Crawford, of 153 Wildwood Avenue, who yesterday suffered a slight scratch near her eye.

SPCA officials told police there had been previous complaints about the dog and that its owner had been warned twice before to keep it from being at large.

The owner's name and address were not released by police.

Comedian's Eye Healing Slowly

QUALICUM BEACH — Comedian Bob Hope, who is staying here with his family, is still suffering from the eye trouble that affected his sight earlier this year.

In a telephone interview, Hope's secretary said that the Hollywood star's eye is healing slowly, but he must have a complete rest.

So far he hasn't caught any fish on his outings, but he's still trying.

$2,000,000 for Terminal, Longer Runways

Jet-Age Plans Unveiled For Pat Bay by Pearkes

★ ★ ★

Scurrah, Chamber Elated, Seek Continental Service

★ ★ ★

The federal government will spend $2,000,000 on a new air terminal building and jet-age runways for Victoria International Airport at Patricia Bay.

Disclosure of the long-demanded airport project was made yesterday by Defence Minister George Pearkes after he received a department of transport report.

Details of the plan to modernize the airport are:

1. Expenditure of $1,400,000 this year and next for runway extension and taxi-strip improvement.

2. Construction of a $550,000 first stage of a new $1,000,000 passenger terminal this year and next.

3. Improvement of general operating facilities at a cost of $103,000.

Announcement of the modernization program brought elation to Mayor Percy Scurrah and Victoria Chamber of Commerce president Conway Parrott, both of whom have long advocated such a move.

Details of the project were learned only a day after the mayor and Mr. Parrott had expressed disappointment that no firm decision had so far been made by Ottawa.

Something Definite at Last

Said the mayor yesterday: "I'm glad we have something definite from them at last.

"This makes it quite evident that they recognize the importance of Victoria as an air terminal.

"We'll make something out of that airport yet if we keep pushing," he added.

Mr. Parrott, who travelled to Ottawa with the mayor some months ago to press for the airport project, said, "I'm hoping that before the work is finished Victoria can take its place as a transcontinental air terminal.

"I want to see some transcontinental flights originate and others terminate at Victoria," he said.

A day earlier the mayor told the Colonist he would only wait another 30 days without definite word on the airport work without forcefully renewing his appeal.

Although some of the details of the program have not been disclosed, authoritative sources believe the $1,400,000 runway allotment will be largely for extension of the main east-west runway to 7,000 feet.

This would permit Trans-Canada Air Lines to land its transcontinental turbo-prop Viscount flights here and pave the way for the airline's already-announced plan to put Viscounts on the Victoria-Vancouver run by 1961.

Replaced by Vanguards

When the Viscounts become available for short-run use they will be replaced in transcontinental service by turbo-prop Vanguards and pure jet DC-8s.

With the main runway extended to 7,000 feet it would accommodate the Vanguard and make the future origin and termination of transcontinental flights here feasible.

In addition, TCA is expected to maintain one transcontinental Viscount flight in order to facilitate maintenance deliveries to its shops in Winnipeg.

This flight could be the one chosen to use Victoria International Airport as a transcontinental base.

Of the total airport expenditure a sum of $628,000 is scheduled to be spent this year.

Included in this year's work will be $100,000 on the passenger terminal, $20,000 for expansion of the power plant, $8,000 for extension of the electrical distribution system and $500,000 on runways.

Next year's work calls for spending $900,000 on runways, $50,000 for high-intensity runway lighting facilities and $25,000 for water distribution facilities—plus $450,000 on the terminal.

Short Circuit Hits Dryer

The legendary overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder didn't cause half the consternation which a pair of trousers caused in Mrs. Margaret Merriman's electric dryer at 3814 Merriman Drive yesterday when short circuit set them alight. Remains of husband's slacks are balefully examined by housewife who estimated damage to clothes and dryer at $275.

Happy Day For World Back in '45

Fourteen years ago tonight, Victoria, in common with many of the world's communities, was staging a heartfelt celebration.

It had just been learned by newspaper, radio broadcast and by word of mouth that the last official shot had been fired in the final stage of the costliest war in terms of life and money, in history.

It was VJ-Day, 1945.

Downtown Victoria was a sea of cheering faces as thousands thronged the streets anxious to shed the oppressing tensions of six years of conflict.

Today the anniversary of that momentous occasion will pass unmarked except in the memories of those who were there and those who awaited their return—and the friends and relatives of those who failed to return.

Park Handicrafts Blossom

Six weeks instruction for some 2,800 youngsters enrolled in handicraft and recreation classes at 16 Saanich parks produced examples of workmanship like those being admired here by Barbara Appleby, 8, of 1309 Simon, and Richard Clevette, 11, of 3711 Savannah, at display in Royal Oak Women's Institute hall yesterday.—(Photo by Boucher.)

Vivi Petersen Miss Canada Runner-Up

Coast beauties took the honors in a nation-wide talent, looks and charm contest at Burlington, Ont., last night as a New Brunswick girl was named Miss Canada and Victoria's Vivi Petersen was runner-up.

The two topped the judges poll for beauty, personality, talent and manners in the competition between 23 entrants from all parts of the country.

Winner was Rosemary Catherine Keenan, 19, of Fredricton.

In a telephone interview last night Miss Petersen praised the East Coast girl who won the crown.

VERY HAPPY

"It couldn't happen to a nicer girl," she said. "She deserved to win. But I am very happy to have won a cup for second. I want to show it to everyone in Victoria.

"Next year I hope whoever represents Victoria will win the big cup."

In the tradition of keyed-up contestants in such contests, Miss Petersen shed tears toward the end of the interview.

But she was "very happy," she repeated.

PROVES CONTRAST

Her joy contrasted with the feelings of Margaret Ann Schnell, 20, of Tisdale, Sask.

After placing third this year, for the second year in a row, she announced she would never enter another beauty contest.

The Victoria entrant in the Miss Canada contest won her Miss Victoria title at the Jaycee fair in the Memorial Arena, May 9.

She is Danish-born and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Volmer Petersen, 2815 Fifth.

Seattle Man Buys East Sooke Ranch

Sale of the 110-acre Silver Spray Ranch at the end of the East Sooke Road, for upwards of $50,000, has been concluded by Pemberton Holmes Ltd.

The ranch has been sold to Seattle businessman Archie H. Stuart, who may lease it or operate it as a tourist resort. Previous owner was W. P. Kellar, a wildlife and scenic photographer, who has been farming sheep and beef cattle.

It is one of the largest waterfront farms on Vancouver Island and has nine bays and beaches.

Museum Crew Digs Into Past At Shoal Bay

Mysteries of this area's past will be dug out by a provincial museum crew at an archeological site on Shoal Bay in Victoria.

The crew, working on a site known to archeologists as DcRt-1, where it is believed ancient dwellers on this coast have left relics of their times, will be led by Wilson Duff, museum curator of anthropology.

He described the area between Gonzales Hill and Oak Bay golf course on the shore of Juan de Fuca Strait as an ancient midden or waste disposal ground of native peoples "who may have lived here 200 to 5,000 years ago."

NO INTERFERENCE

The search for artifacts from bygone days will be carried out in such a way there will be no interference with present-day users of the scenic shoreline area, Mr. Duff said yesterday.

He said existence of the midden has been known for some time, but decision to investigate its possible clues to the past was only recently decided on.

Two trenches will be dug by the crew consisting of Mr. Duff, assistant curator Michael Kew and assistants John Sendley and Richard Cox, plus volunteers.

MIGHT BE ROOM

Mr. Duff said there might also be "room" for interested volunteers "if they are willing to abide by the rules of the dig."

He said the midden covers a small area and is about three feet deep. It was chosen because it can be handled by a small crew and because it is in danger of being destroyed by sea erosion.

From the accumulation of shells, ash and other refuse left behind during "long periods of human habitation," the present-day diggers hope to disclose a clearer picture of the vanished dwellers.

Inquiry Set Into Death Of Boy, 5

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, said he plans to hold an inquiry today into the death of five-year-old Donald Richard Stewart, of 3314 Fircrest, who died in hospital early yesterday morning after being thrown against rocks by a flailing fire hose.

But no inquest will be held, Dr. Hart said.

The child was hurled against the rocks by a fire hose that snapped across a corner lot while being unreeled by Saanich firemen who were fighting a grass fire near the Stewart home on Wednesday.

SERVICES SATURDAY

Funeral services will be held at 1.30 p.m. Saturday from McCall's funeral home, Rev. James Storey officiating. Burial will follow in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan Stewart; two sisters, Martha Dale, 11, and Betty Louise, 10, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Stewart, of 160 Croft; and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Gray, of 519 Rupert, and several aunts and uncles.

Sends His Allowance of $5 — Helps Replace $40 She Lost

Young Billy Remembers Woman Who Saved His Life

A boy who was saved from drowning two years ago by Mrs. Hazel Baynes, of Langford, sent her his allowance—a $5 bill—after reading a story in Sunday's Colonist that the woman had lost her social assistance money.

The child's action unfolded a story of his near-drowning which never appeared in a newspaper and which his own father has never been told.

A letter containing $5 signed only "Billy" which arrived at The Daily Colonist yesterday stated:

"Mrs. Baynes lifesaved me out of Langford Lake two years ago. After she did artificial respiration on my back she bawled me out for swimming alone, then showed me how to swim. This is my allowance. Please give it to her."

Mrs. Baynes, of 1120 Donna Avenue, whose only sustenance is a monthly social assistance cheque, said she thought a newspaper report of the loss of her wallet containing $40 in cash in a department store in Victoria, probably prompted Billy into sending the money.

She said that two years ago she had gone swimming at an empty public beach on Langford Lake just off Goldstream Avenue and after she had waded out past the "drop off" into deep water, she kicked something.

"I dived down to see what I bumped into and I found this seven or eight-year-old boy."

She said she pulled him to shore and successfully applied artificial respiration.

"If he said I bawled him out, that's no understatement. I did. He told me he was going to learn to swim where nobody could watch him when he chose the empty Langford beach."

The rescuer said she sent Billy back into the water and taught him how to "dog paddle" before driving him most of the way to his home. She said she later received a letter from the boy's mother thanking her and explaining that the father had not been told because he "would be angry."

When she heard about the money sent by Billy, Mrs. Baynes said, "It's a very thoughtful child that would do a thing like that."

She said she would accept it because the money she lost has not been returned and she won't receive another social assistance cheque until Sept. 6.

Going All Out for Good Music

Boosting Victoria Symphony Society membership and season ticket sales, members join forces for an all-out drive Sept. 14 to 21. Planners include from left to right, Arnold Webb, drive chairman, Mrs. W. A. McElmoyle, Mrs. R. Lindgren and society secretary Miss E. J. McGillivray. An outdoor concert is tentatively arranged for the eve of the campaign.

Personal Mention

The marriage is announced of Miss Eve Simpson, daughter of Mrs. Simpson of Victoria and the late Frank Simpson, to Dr. Gilbert Lancry. The civil ceremony was performed in the reception rooms of the mayor of the 8th district of Paris, where the groom is attached to a U.S. army dispensary. Among the guests were Mr. H. F. E. Smith, B.C. industrial and trade secretary in London, and Mrs. Smith, and Mr. W. De Vries, Chief of Staff of NATO. Some 60 people, among them many Canadian friends, attended the wedding reception.

RCAF Beats Stork

VANCOUVER (CP) — The RCAF won a race with the stork Wednesday.

An air force Canso was sent from Sea Island here to the RCAF station at Holberg, on northern Vancouver Island, when an expectant mother developed complications.

Mrs. William Clark, wife of Cpl. Clark, based at Holberg, arrived in the Canso at 1.15 p.m. One hour and six minutes later, she gave birth to a nine-pound, four-ounce baby girl, and both are "doing fine."

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

DEAR ANN: I was born and reared in the east and felt uprooted when I married Steve and moved to his native New Orleans three months ago.

Steve is an executive with a big firm. The company's annual picnic was an eye-opening experience. One expects informality at an outing but in my opinion there was entirely too much "southern hospitality" between the office girls and their bosses.

I said nothing for fear Steve would think me a nagger or, worse yet, jealous. But I'd like your opinion on the following:

I was behind a tree, hidden from view. This voluptuous blonde saw my husband but not me. She ran toward him, threw her arms around his neck and sighed, "I always wondered what you'd look like in a T-shirt, Sugar Lump." I said nothing but I've been burning a little ever since. What would you have done, Ann Landers? — SPEECHLESS.

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I would have stepped out from behind the tree, extended my hand, and, in a honey-dripping voice said, "How do you do—I'm Mrs. Lump!"

Extracurricular Snooping

DEAR ANN: I'm a young woman who works for a drug chain a few blocks from the newspaper that prints your column.

A young man who works for this paper has dated me a few times. Last evening something happened which made me angry. I wasn't ready when he arrived so I asked him to make himself comfortable.

When I entered the room I noticed him snooping around the papers on my desk. There were letters, bills, bank statements and the usual junk.

I was annoyed and told him he was ill-mannered. He at once put me on the defensive by saying his training as a newspaper reporter was so ingrained that snooping was second nature. He claims a good reporter examines everything. Do I owe him an apology?—ANN FAN.

DEAR ANN FAN: You owe him no such thing. A good newspaper reporter is a gentleman, too. He doesn't need to snoop to get his story. The B-movie version of how a newspaper reporter behaves, went out with sleeve-garters.

Year-Round Raccoon Coat

DEAR ANN: When I graduated from high school I was voted the handsomest boy in the senior class. I was always able to go with any girl I wanted—so long as I kept my shirt on. When I removed my shirt I looked like a grizzly bear. I have an abnormal amount of hair on my back—far more than most men have on their chests.

I've been married eight years and have never known complete happiness because of my handicap. Our daughter is almost seven now and my wife is constantly checking her back to see if she's going to be a freak like her father.

Instead of becoming accustomed to it, I get more miserable as time goes on. Should I see a psychiatrist? — GRIZZLY.

DEAR GRIZZLY—If your year-round raccoon coat is making you more miserable as time goes on, see a dermatologist. A specialist in this field can remove unwanted hair scientifically. It will cost money and take-time, but since your mental health is involved, it would be worth it.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

FOR NEPTUNE'S DAUGHTERS. At a beach or pool, there is more to looking like a mermaid than wearing a pretty swim suit. As at no other time, the secret of allure is good posture. Any sort of sprawl appears more awkward when you wear bathing dress than when you wear evening dress. More of it shows!

While you are attired in a swim suit, the graceful position for lazing or sunbathing on either your tummy or back is taken this way: Stretch out straight, keep your feet and legs close, arch the ankles, press your torso against the ground, and cradle your head in your hands.

When sitting, be careful to hold your back and head erect. And take extra care about the pose of your legs. Never spread them; stretch them straight out and cross the ankles, or draw both forelegs around to one side and close into the hips.

These positions improve the contours as well as the grace of your figure. If you need proof, try them in front of your mirror the next time you put on your swim suit.

HIP REDUCING ROUTINES

You can diet until you become feather-light and still be hip-heavy. Reduction in the hipline is assured only by exercise. For a set of quick and effective ones, send for my leaflet, Hip Reducing Routines. Write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Wedding Police Bolstered

SOGNE, Norway (UPI) — Sogne's one-man police force took on reinforcements yesterday to maintain law and order in this pint-sized town when local girl Anne Marie Rasmussen marries Steven Rockefeller next week.

Rockefeller, 23, son of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, and Miss Rasmussen, 21, are to be married in a local church Aug. 22.

Some of the 40-man force will be stationed around the Lutheran church where the wedding will take place. Others will be strung out along the 15-mile drive into nearby Kristiansand where the wedding dinner will be given.

Mrs. Björg Farseth Nodeland, manager of the "Klubmen," known locally as "The White House," where the dinner will be given, said 80 persons have been invited to the dinner but that only 60 or 70 are expected to show up.

The young couple spent Thursday hiding from inquiring newsmen and photographers.

Spinsterhood's Shadow Cast Over Margaret

Princess Nears 30th Year

This is the first of three dispatches providing a remarkably frank closeup of Princess Margaret as she approaches her 30th year. Robert Musel's close coverage of the royal family dates back to before the engagement of then Princess Elizabeth to Prince Philip.

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI) — In a castle, or in a cottage, there is one human problem where the reactions are all the same. Daughter is getting on in years and there isn't a husband in sight. Has the family got a spinster in its midst?

They will be asking this question in one castle (and echoing it in cottages all over Britain) on Aug. 21 when little Princess Margaret—is it possible?—enters her 30th year.

Queen Mother Elizabeth is frankly worried. Sister, Queen Elizabeth, is worried, too. So is brother-in-law, the Duke of Edinburgh.

What was laughed off five years ago, whispered about two years ago, is this year heartbreaking reality.

As the princess approaches her 29th birthday the shadow of spinsterhood falls ever more heavily across the celebrations planned under the towers and battlements of Balmoral in Scotland.

This situation was not foreseen by the soothsayers who rushed into print soon after the princess was born in Glamis Castle on a wild and rainy night in 1930. They said she would be married before she was 21—generally a safe bet with royalty—as legend decreed for girls born in the storied Scottish castle where Shakespeare set "Macbeth."

As the years went on the prophecy seemed to be working out according to plan. The girl had almost too much of everything — beauty, wealth, position and a circle of friends that included the most eligible young men of her generation.

★ ★ ★

Before she was 17 her name was linked with that of King Michael of Romania and she dated him in a plunging neckline that prompted an onlooking woman to remark to a reporter: "If she was my daughter, I'd spank her."

PRINCESS MARGARET
. . . no others asked

Yet a dozen years and several dozen boy friends later Princess Margaret faces the cheerless prospect of an unmarried, childless future.

One of the grimmer aspects of the picture is the way loyal courtiers have been trying for some time to make this sound attractive. Royal princesses (they will confide) are not like ordinary people.

They can always do work of importance 'til the end of their days. They cite the case of Princess Victoria, sister of King George V and great-aunt of Margaret. She never married and she had a useful life.

And so on. But as any practising spinster can tell Margaret, the nights get lonelier the longer you live.

So everybody is still hoping she will somehow meet a man she can love or respect enough to join before the altar in Westminster Abbey where her ancestors have married for nearly 900 years.

Even in this republican world, royalty is granted a larger-than-life vocabulary of its own. If a princess (for example) utters an occasional pleasantry, she is described as witty. If she has regular features, she is referred to as beautiful. Whatever she wears — and it sometimes can be pretty atrocious — she is praised right on to the lists of 10 best-dreseed women.

★ ★ ★

This screen of fairyland adjectives tends to obscure the real person. It is a buffer against the harsher judgments so often the lot of the ordinary person.

Margaret has had the protection of this golden cocoon for a long time.

But recently I had the rare opportunity of questioning someone who sees the princess as she really is from a vantage point within the royal circle.

In an hour of the frankest discussion I remember about a royal figure, a portrait of Margaret emerged which showed that she has many of the common failings as well as many of the regal virtues.

She can be arrogant — and generous. She loses friends easily—yet she can be loyal and steadfast to those she loves. She has rarely pulled her own weight of the royal family duties in the past—but now she thinks her sister, Queen Elizabeth, is working too hard and she is keen for extra assignments.

She is the highest-stepping member of the royal family since the Duke of Windsor was Prince of Wales and king of the night clubs—but she is also the most devout, with a deep and genuine feeling for the ritual of the Established Church.

One thing we both agreed upon—she is pretty by any standards though her nose is too long for photography. She has spectacular blue eyes, white teeth, excellent skin. She is only five feet tall and under 100 pounds but movie star Jack Lemmon, who danced with her one night, considers her figure "sensational."

★ ★ ★

However, when I said I thought she looked younger than her age, my astringent royal source disagreed.

"I wonder why she has never married?" I said.

"Partly because of Group Captain Peter Townsend," said my source. "Partly for the rather remarkable reason that no one else has ever asked her —or if they have we have never heard about it."

(Next: Margaret and Townsend today).

Psychology Professor:

Gifted Child, Too Requires Help

VANCOUVER (CP) — A course in the psychology of exceptional children is being given at the University of British Columbia this summer by Professor Wilda Rosebrooke of Ohio State University.

Miss Rosebrook, a little woman with greying hair and boundless enthusiasm, has devoted her life to teaching.

She is impatient because progress is slow in the training of children who deviate mentally and physically from the normal.

At first she was a high school teacher and then became a clinical psychologist.

In this role, she says, she realized that gifted children as well as mentally or physically retarded children could best be helped in school, and by well-trained teachers.

So she started her present career of teaching teachers, administrators and psychologists.

Miss Rosebrook instructs parent and mental health groups in her spare time.

"When one realizes that five per cent of the children have defective speech, 10 to 15 per cent have learning problems and one to two per cent are gifted, one realizes the importance of such training," she said in an interview.

"The teacher-training is important, but one must realize it is equally important that parents learn to live with and work with these children 24 hours a day.

"Always encourage people to give money towards basic research and teacher training. Let's modify the football fields if necessary."

Fund to Help Heroine's Tots

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — The Mrs. George Turnbull trust fund has been launched on a city-wide basis.

Mrs. Turnbull, 33-year-old mother, drowned last week after saving the life of a 12-year-old boy at a nearby beach —the third child she had rescued in a week.

The fund was started for the education of her two small children.

Polio Strikes Family

UXBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) —A young mother whose four children were struck with polio after she failed to have them get Salk shots, yesterday urged other parents not to be so careless.

"It was just carelessness on my part," said Mrs. Marie Plante Majeau. "The facilities were definitely available here but my husband was killed in a car accident last April and I just didn't get to it."

INSECT DAMAGE

Damages inflicted by insects in Canada amount to more than $300,000,000 a year, exclusive of cost of control measures.

Gallaugher-Fraser Double-Ring Ceremony

Newlyweds Will Live in Victoria Following Honeymoon in Banff

More than 140 guests danced at the recent wedding reception for newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rubin Fraser following a double-ring ceremony in Centennial United Church.

The bride is the former Donna Jean Gallaugher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gallaugher.

Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiated.

For her wedding, the charming bride, carrying red roses and white gardenias, chose a full-skirted gown of nylon tulle, accented with a bodice and overskirt of lace dotted with pearls and sequins. A crown of pearls and sequins held her veil of embroidered nylon.

Attendants wore identical waltz gowns of flocked nylon and carried bouquets of pink carnations. Sister of the bride, Mrs. B. J. Burgess was in pink; and the Misses Geraldine Anderson and Jean Warren were in pastel blue. Flower girl was Shirley Ann Hill, also in pink.

Sub-Lt. B. J. Burgess was best man and usher was Mr. James Gallaugher, the bride's brother. Mr. G. Warren proposed the toast.

The couple will live in Victoria following their Banff honeymoon.

Second Twin Arrives Late, 50 Miles from Brother

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Don Campbell are the proud parents of twins—a boy and a girl—born 50 miles and nearly 24 hours apart. Mrs. Campbell gave birth to a seven-pound boy last Friday in Minden Red Cross Hospital. Complications set in and she was brought here by ambulance. She gave birth to the six-pound girl the following day.

Sandwiches Fill Bill for Summer Eating

By LOUISE MOORE

Sandwiches, big and small, make marvelous summer eating. There are the hearty, lengthy buns with a filling of meat and cheese, the hamburger bun with barbecue sauce and served with a salad for a family supper and the dainty variety the ladies love to nibble.

SAM'S SANDWICH

Cut 1 loaf (12-18 inches long) French bread lengthwise. Spread cut surfaces with butter or margarine. Spread mustard (prepared) on bottom layer. Arrange leaf lettuce over mustard, and place slices of sharp cheddar cheese on lettuce using 4 slices cheese altogether. Now take 15 slices assorted cold cuts and overlap over cheese, making certain meat completely covers bottom half of sandwich. Arrange 1 large dill pickle sliced lengthwise and 6 or 8 onion rings on meat. Place top half of loaf over filling. The loaf at serving time may be cut crosswise and diagonally, into 3-inch lengths for luncheons or snacks.

SALAD IN A SANDWICH

Scrub but do not pare, 3 medium size fresh carrots. Add 1 medium sized onion, ½ head lettuce, 2 red-skinned apples, ½ seeded green pepper, 1 cucumber seeded, 1 avocado (optional) and 2 tblsp. well-drained crushed pineapple. Put all through mincer except avocado. Mash it with a fork and combine it with the vegetables. Sprinkle with 1 tblsp. sugar, 1 tblsp. vinegar and enough mayonnaise or boiled dressing to bind mixture. Season to taste with salt and pepper and few grains cayenne.

U.S. Senate Beauty Shop Bars Negro

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator's Negro secretary says the beauty shop in the old Senate Office has refused to do her hair.

Mrs. Annie Ball, secretary of Democratic Sen. Philip Hart of Michigan, said she was told Tuesday there was no operator trained to work on her hair.

"Anyone qualified to shampoo and pincurl hair could do it," Mrs. Ball said adding that on a previous occasion she received a manicure at the shop.

Hart asked the Senate rules and administration committee to investigate.

Friends Admit Stuffing Ballot Box

'Bathing Belle' Grandma Denied Ride on Float

ILFRACOMBE, England (AP) — A 54-year-old grandmother chosen as bathing belle of the town's annual carnival was disowned by the organizing committee Wednesday.

Mrs. Ethel Vickery — vital statistics 38-28-38 — won the title over a field of 20 young rivals by public ballot.

Voting tickets were on the official carnival program, which cost a shilling a copy. After the votes were counted the organizers claimed the ballot box was stuffed by friends of the glamorous grandma who bought programs by the dozen.

"That's right, and what of it?" said an anonymous supporter of Mrs. Vickery. "She's a jolly good sport and she's been trying to win the bathing belle title for the last five years."

"The public would never accept her," said a carnival official. "Some people threatened to throw tomatoes if she rode a float."

Alabamans Want Librarian Fired

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —The Alabama segregation screening committee will take up a bill next week aimed at firing the library official who refused to ban a children's picture book portraying the marriage of a black rabbit and a white rabbit.

Sources said the proposal is supported by State Sens. L. K. (Snag) Andrews and E. O. Eddins.

Eddins recently criticized Miss Emily Reed, director of the Alabama Public Library Service, for not banning the book, "The Rabbits' Wedding," which he said was intended to spread racial integration propaganda.

The author denied such intentions.

Race Probe 'Smeared'

LONDON (UPI) — African nationalists Thursday accused the British government of waging a "smear campaign" against the Devlin commission.

The Committee on African Organizations said Prime Minister Macmillan's government used the House of Commons to "ridicule" the commission, which recently investigated political condition in Nyasaland.

The committee also accused the Southern Rhodesian government of similar "smear campaign" tactics.

Money Soured Romance

Heiress Sails, Poor Suitor Stays in Jail

LONDON (AP) — A poor young man who flouted the law to woo a rich girl, admitted the error of his ways Wednesday but was sent back to simmer some more in the jail he entered 28 days ago.

The thoroughly thwarted lover — 27-year-old Edward Langley, a truck driver without a job — learned at the same time that heiress Katharine Dowsett, 20, has renounced him forever and sailed to Africa to forget.

Langley was committed to Brixton Prison July 16 for contempt of court. He admitted he eloped to Scotland with under-age Katharine in defiance of a judge's order obtained by her father, Harry, a wealthy shipbuilder.

"This case," said Justice Henry Phillimore, "appears to be one where love was tempered by considerations of finance — the squalid attempt of a penniless adventurer to marry the daughter of a rich man. I will adjourn this motion until the first day of the next term, which begins on Oct. 1."

A solicitor representing Katharine's father said the girl now realizes that her romance with Langley was a mistake.

"She has made known to her father her firm resolve to have nothing whatever to do with Langley in the future," the solicitor advised the court. He added that Miss Dowsett sailed last Saturday "of her own free will" on an African cruise to forget the whole thing.

Planemaker Admits Parties for Officers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The board chairman of the Martin Aircraft Co. told House investigators Thursday his firm flew high-ranking military officers to the Bahamas for weekend parties at an exclusive country club.

George Bunker was promptly ordered to furnish names of the party-going officials to a subcommittee investigating possible influence-peddling.

He said the weekend trips were designed to bring about a "closer relationship" between Martin officials and those in the military, government and industry.

Husband for Miss Baker Sought by U.S. Navy

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP.)—The U.S. Navy is planning to get a husband for Miss Baker, the half-pound monkey who made history as a space traveller.

Scientists at the naval school of aviation medicine here want to find out whether the monkey's space flight could result in "any abnormalties in reproduction" due to possible radiation exposure.

Satellite to Solve Scientific Riddle?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal space agency is considering a proposal to look in space for some answers to the scientific riddle of anti-matter, it was learned Thursday.

Dr. Edward Hones of San Diego has proposed equipping a satellite with apparatus designed to determine whether anti-particles are being created deep in space.

Anti-particles are the building blocks of anti-matter, which is opposite in electric charge and other vital characteristics from the kind of matter of which the earth is made.

Anti-particles and ordinary particles cannot co-exist peacefully. They annihilate each other with tremendous releases of energy dwarfing nuclear reactions.

It appears theoretically possible that anti-matter star systems — with anti-matter worlds populated by anti-matter organisms—exist somewhere out yonder.

Dr. Hones' proposal is being considered by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the future when scientific satellites are bigger and more sophisticated than those now available.

Meanwhile, laboratory investigation of anti-particles continues. Scientists know of no reason why nature should create only the kind of electrons, protons, neutrons and other particles which make up matter on earth.

So far, they have discovered at least four anti-particles and assume that several more exist in nature.

Sidney Pier Soon Complete But Strike Delays Buildings

Construction of the long-awaited federal government wharf at Sidney should be completed in about a month, but erection of auxiliary buildings is being delayed by the IWA strike.

A Pacific Pile Driving Co. official said last night that work on the pier itself was nearly completed.

A transfer span and the machinery to operate it are still to be installed. This should take two weeks, he said.

The $260,710 project was originally scheduled for completion Aug. 17.

This was set back by the federal government's decision to call for tenders for the construction of a customs and immigration building.

The $16,000 contract awarded to Pacific Pile Driving three weeks ago was subcontracted by Parfitt Construction.

The company spokesman said construction of the buildings is being delayed due to a hitch in lumber delivery caused by the strike.

TIME
Fortunately, "once upon a time" there was a Scotsman named Grant—Wm. Grant—who cherished definite ideas about how to make a superb Scotch Whisky. He was so positive that he built his first distillery with his own hands, producing a Scotch that made him famous. So famous that in time—through five generations of his direct descendants, the Grant reputation for making a unique Scotch spread throughout the world.
P.S.—As the sundial is the bright symbol of time, the triangular bottle is the reminder of that brilliant Scotch, Grant's Stand Fast.

Improved Laws Near for Indians In Home, School

CALGARY — Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough says changes in the Indian Act likely will result from her current tour of western Canada reservations.

She has made a special study of Indian housing and education problems, and of administration of the act, last changed in 1951.

"Much of the housing is definitely poor," she said. "Without wishing to press the Indians faster than they wish to go, much can be done to help them in this field."

She plans to continue her study on Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland.

Weeds Out Of Pool At Gorge

A weed infestation in the pool in Kinsmen Gorge Park has been eliminated by changing the water each day, Esquimalt Councillor James Bryant said yesterday.

Mr. Bryant, chairman of the Esquimalt parks board, said the board was "convinced the temperature of the water" had caused the weeds.

Water temperatures in the pool will now be closer to the 50 to 55 degrees in the Gorge itself, instead of the previous normal of 65 degrees.

Bing 'Intensely Proud' Of Sons' Success

SEATTLE (AP) — Bing Crosby said Thursday by radio telephone from a yacht 450 miles north of here he is intensely proud of his four older sons and plans to see their act soon.

"I'll probably catch their show in Las Vegas right after Phil Harris and I return in two or three days from this fishing trip," Crosby said.

He declined to comment on published reports quoting his oldest son, Gary, 26, as saying he and his father are estranged.

Bing did say though, he had read all the reviews of his boys' appearances in Las Vegas, Chicago, Washington and other cities and was delighted they were favorable.

Garden Notes

Heather Isn't Any Trouble

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I don't know who ever started the idea that the heathers are difficult to grow from seed. I took a crack at the Ericas and some of their heather relatives without too much hope as to the outcome and, to my delighted surprise, the seeds germinated as readily as radishes.

Plants of the Erica family are among the most trouble-free of any in the garden. Pests don't seem to be attracted to them and I have never seen a smidgin of mildew, mould, rot or any of the other fungus infections which plague other plants and shrubs. The only time heaths or heathers have ever gone miffy on me is when I tried to grow them in a high-lime soil. The leaves became pale and anaemic until I hoicked them out of there and replanted them in beds of peaty soil.

Some Ericas are not so fussy and will tolerate a fair amount of lime without showing the symptoms of iron starvation—chlorosis—but even these easy-going kinds perform better in soil which is on the acid side.

It is quite possible to grow acid-loving plants on a site which is naturally limey, but you have to do it in raised beds. It is no use at all just digging a hole and filling it with acid peat, for in no time at all the lime and limey water has impregnated the peat. Lime always works downward and the only way to avoid contaminating the soil mixture with lime is to keep it up on top.

★ ★ ★

The trick here is to make a box-like enclosure of bricks, concrete blocks, rocks or the like on the surface and fill with a mixture of peat moss and coarse-grained sand. Plant up these raised beds with a variety of heathers—azaleas, too—and they'll be as happy as mudlarks.

Some of the lime-tolerant heaths are King George, with dark red blossoms and blooming in early winter; Mrs. S. Doncaster, clear pink, mid-winter; Springwood White, with pure white flowers and blooming in February, and Winter Beauty, which is at its best in December, with rosy pink blooms.

Other good ones, but which must be grown in raised beds or otherwise lime-free soil are: Erica mackayi H. Maxwell, clear pink, blooming in July; Erica hybrida, pale pink, in flower from November to April; Erica vagans Lyonesse, whose white blossoms appear off and on from August to October, and Erica mediterranea superba, deep rose pink, blooming in March.

As you can see from this, it is possible to have color in a heather bed every month of the year. Not only that, but they can be planted at any time of the year except when the ground is actually frozen or covered with snow. For an even more brilliant effect, a good idea is to underplant the heaths with some of the small blue bulb flowers such as scilla, muscari, and chionodoxa. The contrast between these clear blue flowers and the pinks and reds of the heaths is out of this world.

Baby Bonus in Suburbs

While intellectuals are hammering away at the need for birth control, young couples keep on having more and more babies.

There's a great silent revolution going on, which is changing this country from top to bottom.

For about 150 years the upper and middle classes have practised birth control. The poor, of course, never paid any attention to population theories, but people with money and education fell into the habit of postponing marriage and having fewer and fewer babies.

Until about 20 years ago middle-class people usually delayed marriage until the groom was around 30 and the bride well into her 20s. By that time the young husband was ready for a profession or business of his own and the couple could settle down to a comfortable middle-class life. They would have one, two or perhaps three children, whom they would bring up by the customary middle-class standard.

Today all this is changed. Now middle-class couples marry at the age poor couples have married since time immemorial — the average bride is now 18, the average groom 21 or 22. Likely as not, they're both still in college. They settle down in a mortgaged, split-level house with the usual instalment-bought appliances. Then the babies come—one, two, maybe three.

After that, a new pattern begins to emerge. The young couple has been married a few years; the three-bedroom house is filled. The husband is now in his late 20s and beginning to see how he's going to make out. He may be satisfied with what he's got and settle down in his present job. Or he may be more ambitious and work himself up to be a professional or executive.

If he feels he's got what it takes, he'll expect to make more money. He'll feel confident he can go beyond the three children and the three-bedroom house. So he and his wife will go ahead and have more babies.

In time, when this silent revolution has shaken down, we'll have exactly the opposite from what the Malthusian pessimists predict. Poorer, less ambitious people will content themselves with fewer babies while those with better jobs and higher pay will go in for larger and larger families. The traditional middle-class, two-child family will become an exception. Well-to-do couples, as a rule, will have seven or eight children.

This is something the 19th-century and early 20th-century thinkers never expected. They somehow took it for granted that their own kind would gradually die out and the world would be overrun by proletarians and peasants.

Well, it's not going to happen.

Joy Reigns in the Eternal City

LONDON (NANA)—When I called Victor Mature in Rome, I was put through to a "Mrs. Victor Mature," and I thought, oh no, Vic has married Joy Urwick, but this was a Florence Mature. However, Joy reigneth in Rome —Miss Urwick is in the eternal city while Victor is making "Hannibal."

★ ★ ★

Yul Brynner to his biographer — "the whole world thinks we actors are idiots, but I'd like to be a philosophical idiot."

★ ★ ★

Sexy actress Sabrina will think twice before inviting a man from the audience to help with her act in Australia. The volunteer kissed her so hard on stage that she slapped his face. And now he is suing her!

★ ★ ★

Anthony Quinn's fourth-floor apartment is just behind Buckingham Palace, where he can see the royal flag waving when Queen Elizabeth is in residence. But lordy, lordy, what they make the Americans pay for their places to live.

★ ★ ★

Noel Coward is setting a new style for the evenings —a red tuxedo. Certainly helps to find him across a crowded room.

That grand old actor, Wilfred Hyde White, who recently married a rather young wife, will be interested to learn that Sydney Box has bought the movie rights to "Not in the Book," in which he starred on stage. He will be the boy most likely to star in the film.

★ ★ ★

Pity poor Fatso Farouk. He claims to be so hard up that he must sell his favorite yacht, La Favorita. And to make ends meet around the middle, his ex-kingship is actually looking for a job! Dieting would help to reduce his expenses—and his waistline.

★ ★ ★

Vincent Price was lunching at Coq D'Or with wife Mary and some friends. He waved and I looked blank for a while because of the beard, which he grew for a television western.

★ ★ ★

Director Jack Clayton, in as big demand as his stars of "Room at the Top," hopes to oblige Ray Stark and direct the movie version of "The World of Suzie Wong," after his upcoming "Summer and Smoke" for Hal Wallis. Mr. Clayton can now ask and get $100,000 per picture.

★ ★ ★

Russian ballet dancer Anton Dolin celebrated his 55th birthday in London by turning two somersaults and receiving a bouquet of red roses from Noel Coward. Dolin danced with Markova at "The Night of 100 Stars" and she isn't a baby either—but what grace and spring.

Opening lead: Q♠

North had quite a problem with his first response. A temporizing bid at the one-level might have prevented the subsequent auction from getting out of hand, enabling North-South to stop at three no-trump. Yet, they had enough high-card values and controls between them to justify a slam try, and actually deserve credit for stopping on a dime.

Declarer ducked the opening lead, intending to win the spade continuation, draw trumps, and strip the hand of hearts and spades. Then a club lead into West would force a favorable return and ensure the contract. But East was wide awake, and rose to the occasion. He foresaw the possibility of an end-play against his partner, and overtook the spade queen with the king. Next, he shot back the diamond nine, and declarer was sunk. He played the ten-spot, West won the jack and returned another spade. Twist and turn as he might, there was no way for declarer to avoid the loss of another diamond.

Red Warship in Crash Near NATO Exercise

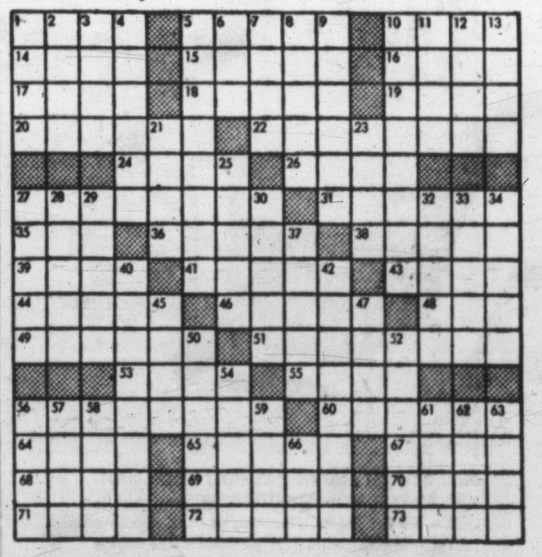

KIEL, Germany (AP) — A Soviet destroyer, prowling in the western Baltic where NATO exercises are in progress, collided in fog with a small German coastal freighter Thursday.

The bow of the 300-ton freighter Christel was crushed but her crew of six escaped injury.

The skipper of the Christel messaged that the Soviet destroyer stood by, then made off into the fog with two other Soviet vessels after it was clear that the freighter was in no danger. The skipper was unable to get the name of the Soviet destroyer.

German naval sources said they suspect the three war vessels were operating in the area because the Russians know that Britain, Denmark, Norway and West German naval units are on manoeuvres.

These officers continue to hold their previous appointments on the staff of the Flag Officer, Pacific Coast.

Dues Issue May Split Teachers

HALIFAX (CP)—The 42,000-member Ontario Teachers Association may quit the Canadian Teachers Federation, cutting its size by half, if it has to pay an extra 25 cents dues for each member.

The parent Canadian Teachers' Federation has given the Ontario group an ultimatum—either pay up or be automatically suspended. The federation has offered to waive approximately $10,000 in Ontario membership arrears for 1958-59 if the association pays $1.25 a member in 1960.

Bennett Promises News Next Week

Shrum Report Ready

★ ★ ★

Issues: Rural Power, Cost-Plus Contracts

Premier Bennett walked into a cabinet meeting yesterday carrying a copy of the long-awaited Shrum royal commission report into B.C. Power Commission financing and operations.

The premier said he would make the report public next week after he and cabinet ministers have had an opportunity to study it.

He would give no hint of the recommendations contained in the large volume and said "I haven't read it yet."

It is actually the third and final report of the Shrum commission, ordered by the premier last November following outspoken charges of government interference made by H. Lee Briggs, former BCPC general manager who was fired for his public criticism.

First interim report of the commission headed by UBC physicist Dr. Gordon Shrum offered a compromise plan for refinancing of bonds held by the government for the power commission.

This was the subject that touched off Mr. Briggs' fiery outbursts that refinancing would cost BCPC customers money. The Shrum plan was accepted by the legislature in April.

Later, another interim report recommended a change in the rate structure of the BCPC, which resulted in small increases in rates for many power users.

Part of Mr. Briggs' charges was that the premier had refused a rate increase which Mr. Briggs said was necessary for continued operation. The legislature subsequently approved a $200,000-a-year subsidy and the BCPC implemented Dr. Shrum's suggested new rate structure.

The new Shrum report is understood to make recommendations on future operations of the BCPC and its place in the B.C. power picture.

One of the duties of the Shrum commission was to investigate spiralling costs of the Strathcona power development and it is understood the report discourages further cost-plus contracts.

Problem of rural electrification in British Columbia is understood to take up a big part of the new report. It is expected it will recommend that private power companies take a greater responsibility for providing electric power to the rural areas in their districts.

Tip Waits 11 Years

LONDON (AP)—Baggage porter Sidney Trott has finally received a $2 tip he earned 11 years ago.

With the money came a note from Paul Fogue of Kimberley, B.C., saying:

"In 1948 you helped me with my luggage to the train. I didn't have a penny in cash so I asked you to put down your name in my little black book and I promised to send you something later.

"This has bothered me ever since as I haven't been able to find the address until going through an old suitcase the other day and there it was."

Trott said he didn't mind the delay at all—his average tip is about a shilling.

Oldsmobile spoils you...

FOR ANY OTHER CAR !

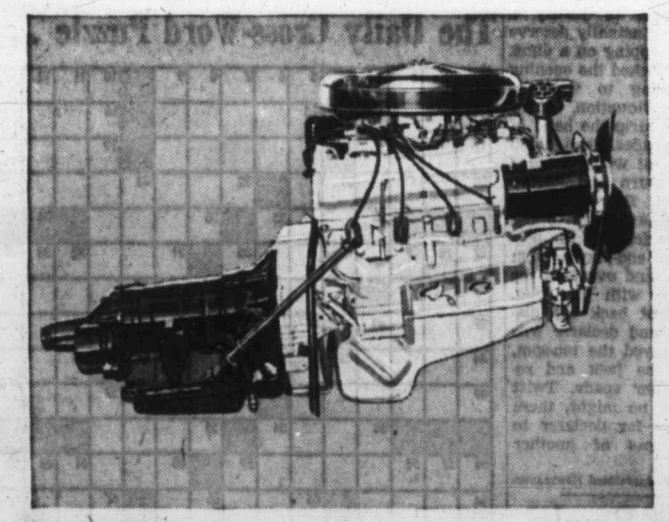

Olds has the gift for making your every driving wish come true... in ways more pleasing than anything you've ever known

Every trip in an Olds is a thrill-filled visit to a new world of motoring delight. From the moment you slip behind the wheel and start that smoothly-purring Rocket engine you know that no other car can measure up to Olds for pure pleasure. In the poised eagerness of its performance . . . in its beguiling luxury . . . in the silent smoothness of its ride . . . in all of the host of typical Oldsmobile luxury features . . . this car is beyond compare.

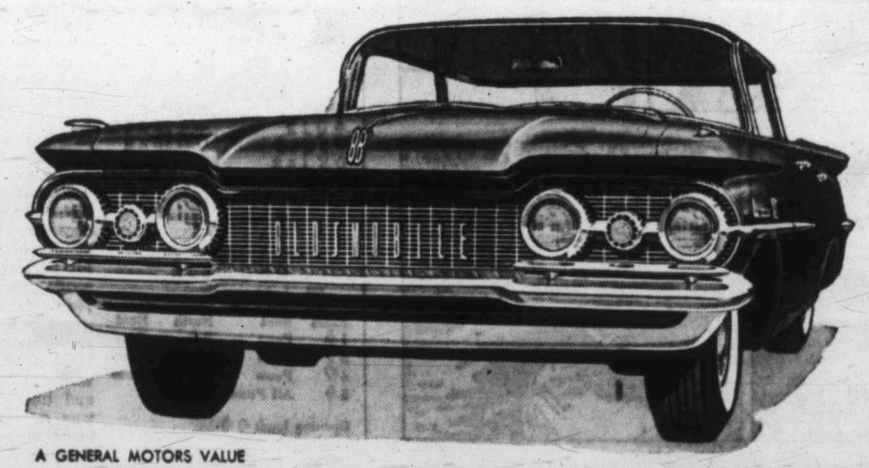

And here's the most pleasant surprise of all. Olds actually costs a great deal less than you may have imagined. And this month is an especially good time to talk to your Oldsmobile quality dealer about the model you want to own. Why not visit him soon?

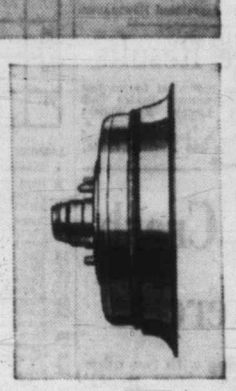

TRANS-PORTABLE RADIO—Now you can have music wherever you go, either in your Olds or out of it. The trans-portable radio is just one of the distinctive options available at extra cost with Oldsmobile. It operates with push-button ease while in the car. Then just a flip of the lock in the glove box . . . and presto! Your trans-portable goes with you, to the ball game, the picnic or wherever. It's the very latest pattern, too. Transistorised for instant warmup. Another of the dozens of reasons for going Oldsmobile, soon!

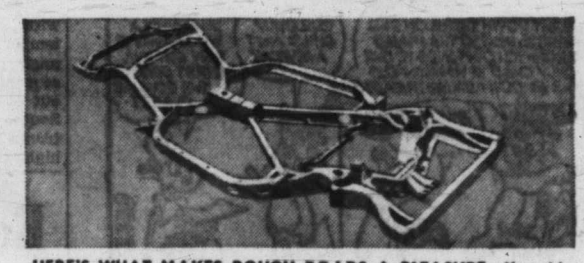

NEW ROCKET ENGINE PAMPERS YOUR HANKERING FOR SILK-SMOOTH POWER—The soft-spoken Rocket engine is built bigger and smoother . . . for economy. Cruising on the highway the engine almost coasts . . . whispering along on less gas than some smaller cars call for. But when you need to move, in sudden emergency, just a touch of your toe and you're away! The tremendous new Rocket brings you the most extensive advances of any engine on the road today . . . new ways to cut costs on the most luxurious, silken power you've ever thrilled to. Take a Rocket test today . . . it's an exhilarating experience.

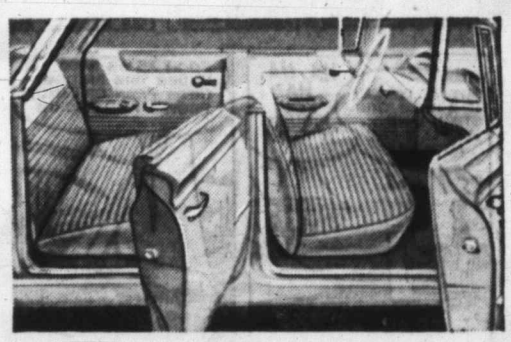

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

KITTEN-SOFT STOPS WITH THESE GREAT BIG 88 SQ. IN. AIR-SCOOP BRAKES—When you want to stop . . . you can stop . . . and fast! And even repeated hard use won't overheat Oldsmobile's big new Air-Scoop brakes. They actually scoop in large quantities of cooling air to retain their sure, efficient stopping power. And because they run cooler, Oldsmobile's bonded brake linings last longer . . . another good reason for stopping in at your Oldsmobile dealer's today and trying Oldsmobile for yourself.

HERE'S WHAT MAKES ROUGH ROADS A PLEASURE—You ride secure in the feel of the road but you seem to ride bump-free. And Old's husky Guard-Beam frame, with nine inch wider span, holds the ground in an unshakable grip. Take to the road . . . the roughest road you can find . . . in Oldsmobile, and you'll know why Oldsmobile's "Glide" Ride is the very best for you.

GREAT BIG LUXURIOUS INTERIOR INVITES YOU TO RELAX—Olds flatters your good taste with Fashion-Firm seats and discreet trim worthy of your own living room. Until you experience all the deep-down comforts of Olds, you'll never know how luxurious a car can be. Comfort test a Rocket soon!

A MIGHTY BIG LITTLE LUXURY FEATURE—A convenient Olds option to provide you with a shielded beam of light for reading, map checking, etc. And it adjusts easily to illuminate the most convenient spot for you.

"FICTION . . . FACT & FOAM"

A foam rubber mattress is strong enuff to support an elephant. Who sleeps with an elephant??? Well, there IS a lot more to be said for a foam mattress than its being able to support an elephant. For instance, you need NEVER turn it over . . . it has millions of air pockets, so it breathes . . . it supports you where you are the heaviest . . . it's guaranteed for 10 years (practically good forever) . . . it's priced now down to the place where almost ANYone can afford it . . . Get educated . . . get foam . . . from

Half-Size Favorite

Half-sizers tell us "The shirt-waist always looks right—so smart, so easy to wear." Enjoy this one any season—slim with graceful back pleats.

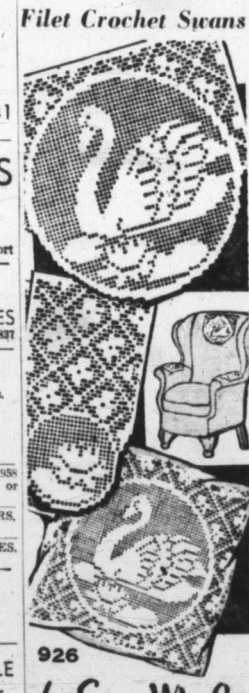

Printed Pattern 9250: Half Sizes 14½, 16½, 18½, 20½, 22½, 24½. Size 16½ takes 3⅞ yards 35-inch fabric.

Printed directions on each pattern part. Easier, accurate.

Send fifty cents (50c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Please print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send your order to Marian Martin Pattern Dept., The Daily Colonist, 60 Front Street West, Toronto, Ont.

Filet Crochet Swans

Fascinating from first to last stitch. Swans add elegance to chair set, matching pillow.

Crochet this chair or buffet set in string — it's easier, quicker. Pattern 926: charts directions chair back 15 x 16; arm rest 7½ x 14; pillow 18 x 18 inches.

Send thirty-five cents in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern to Laura Wheeler Needlecraft Department, The Daily Colonist, 60 Front Street West, Toronto, Ont. Print plainly pattern number, your name and address.

Send for a copy of 1959 Laura Wheeler Needlecraft Book. It has lovely designs to order; embroidery, crochet, knitting, weaving, quilting, toys. In the book, a special surprise to make a little girl happy—a cut-out doll, clothes to color. Send 25 cents for this book.

Daily Astrology

FRIDAY, AUG. 14, 1959

Today's Quotation: "In the day of prosperity be joyful, but in the day of adversity consider." — Ecclesiastes.

Friday for Everyone: Those who are tactful, careful will get a great deal accomplished. Be progressive and sociable; circulate freely, especially in the afternoon and evening. This span is conducive to shopping and for advancing friendships; be congenial.

Look for Your Birthdate and Birthsign Below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — Your efforts will be noted by higher-ups, so be diligent. Seek their favor in the afternoon and evening.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus) — Adopt a cheery outlook; contact persons you are fond of in the late afternoon and evening. Make plans, decisions then.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini) — Seek teamwork in financial matters in the late afternoon and evening. Attend to accounts; benefit through the resources of others.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer) — You benefit by wise plans. Make necessary journeys, important contacts in the afternoon and evening.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo) — Be conscientious in the performance of duties in the morning, and early afternoon. Grasp opportunities; strengthen prestige at the other times.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo) — Take no chances in the morning and early afternoon. Work on a cherished interest; make headway with it during the other times.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra) — Seek to promote home, family, property matters; get some issues concluded in the late afternoon and evening.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio) — Keep opinions flexible; they are subject to revision. Seek to get a lot done in the late afternoon and evening.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius) — Count the costs before embarking on any new projects in the morning or early afternoon. Make purchases after midafternoon.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn) — Adapt yourself since alterations are called for today. Seek recognition; be expressive in late afternoon and evening.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius) — Lend a hand to those in need; ask them to reciprocate if you require aid. Don't get involved in complicated situations.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces) — Bring your objectives to the attention of those who can aid you; be with stimulating folks in the late afternoon and the evening.

Planning Ahead — Good for sociability, entertaining, etc.: Aug. 14, 22; afternoon and evening of 28, 29, 31.

HIGH LOCATION
Just this side, but close to the Royal Oak shopping centre, sits a very nice white stucco bungalow on a half-acre lot. The house sits on one lot, which is a quarter-acre, well-landscaped with lawns, shrubs and flowers. The other quarter-acre lot is on the corner and has an orchard; recently, we turned down $2,000 cash for it. The house is spacious and has large LR with FP, thru hall, dining room with nook or sewing room off, large cab kitchen with dining space, 2 large bedrooms, all-tiled Pembroke bathroom, half-basement with hot-air, piped furnace; separate garage and workshop. This is a beautiful piece of property if you have a desire for rural living. The address is 4306 Glanford Avenue. I have a key and will be glad to show you through, anytime. Monthly payments will be $125, but man, oh man, it's worth it. Very seldom do you have an opportunity to buy a property like this. Immediate possession. Full asking price only $12,600

Truly one of the finest retirement homes this beautiful city has to offer. Located on choice high ground in Oak Bay and facing southeast, every room in this 7-year-old house is blessed with magnificent and unobstructed views. The interior floor plan is excellent and rooms are as follows: Large living and dining rooms with expensive wall-to-wall carpeting, mahogany panelling, RT fireplace, coved ceilings, etc. Off the living room is a beautiful enclosed porch patio with sliding glass doors that lead down cement steps to secluded garden. The kitchen is a step saver with space for all utilities and is complete with garbarator and attractive breakfast area. The hallway is nicely carpeted and leads to large bedroom with twin cupboards and W-to-W carpet. The bathroom is spacious, has colored fixtures and built-in vanity. The den is panelled, carpeted and has attractive fireplace. The basement is full size with asphalt-tile floors and lined walls. The heating plant is General Electric oil furnace. The whole house is completely insulated. There is a double garage on the property and the garden is a sight to behold—the private formal section being fenced and having an attractive patio area. We do not know of a cleaner home in the city of Victoria. It is a pleasure to offer this property at the realistic price of $29,500

GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
DEPARTMENT OF RECREATION AND CONSERVATION
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, endorsed "TENDER FOR CONSTRUCTION OF TWO TOILET AND CHANGE HOUSES AND A PICNIC SHELTER AT ENTRANCE BAY PICNIC SITE IN CULTUS LAKE PROVINCIAL PARK," will be received by the Deputy Minister of Recreation and Conservation, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., up to 3.00 p.m. on Thursday, the 3rd day of September, 1959, and opened in public at that time in the Deputy Minister's office.

Plans, specifications and conditions of tender may be obtained on and after August 14th, 1959, from the Provincial Parks Branch, 544 Michigan Street, Victoria, B.C., or from the offices of the Government Agents, Vancouver and New Westminster, B.C., and the Registrar of the Court, Court House, Chilliwack, B.C., on deposit of the sum of $25.00 for each set, which will be refunded upon return of the plans, etc., in good condition within a period of one month of the opening of tenders, except in the case of the successful tenderer where the plans deposit is not refundable. Plans and specifications will also be on view at the office of the Building and Industries Exchange, 342 West Pender Street, Vancouver 3, B.C., and 816 Wharf Street, Victoria, B.C.

Each tender must be accompanied by a bid bond in the amount of 10% of the tender price, payable to the Minister of Finance. On award and signing of the contract, the successful tenderer shall furnish a performance bond equal to 50% of the contract price.

Tenders must be made out on the forms supplied, signed with the actual signature of the tenderer, and enclosed for mailing or delivery in the envelope furnished. The tenderer shall not add any identifying marks on the envelope.

No tender will be accepted or considered that contains an escalator clause or any other qualifying conditions, and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Site inspections may be arranged by contacting Mr. E. A. McGowan, Engineering Section, Provincial Parks Branch, 544 Michigan Street, Victoria, B.C. (Telephone: EV 2-6111, Local 249).

How Long Will Logs Lie Idle in Booming Grounds?

While effects of the long drawn-out International Woodworkers of America strike spread through the economy of the province, slowing construction and other industries, logs lie idle in booming grounds like this Mesachie Lake grounds of Hillcrest Lumber Co. IWA, Firms Won't Budge

★ ★ ★

Will Minister Name Mediator?

LYLE WICKS
. . . main hope

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks indicated yesterday the government is prepared to step in and pave the way for a settlement in the IWA strike which has idled some 27,000 woodworkers since July 6.

"There has been no indication that either party wants to get together," he said. "It may well be an opportunity may have to be provided to both sides whereby they can get together."

Mr. Wicks wouldn't elaborate as to whether he is considering the appointment of a mediator.

MAJOR DEVELOPMENT

Mr. Wicks said the overnight settlement of the 50-day ironworkers strike was "a major development, but not necessarily the only major development that could take place."

He said the latest settlement "should and likely will mark the end of the rising industrial strife of the last month or so and mark a new trend towards settlement of existing disputes and heading off further ones."

CIRCUMSTANCES

He said there were a great deal of unusual circumstances in the ironworkers strike.

But, he added, the main hope will come from the psychological effect of its settlement along with the settlement of two other disputes within the last week.

(Some 5,000 fishermen and 220 shingle workers have returned to work in the last week as well as the 550 ironworkers.)

WHEELS TURNING

"Workers now on strike and the employers will want to see operations commencing and the wheels turning," Mr. Wicks said.

"I think that when the people see the fishermen going out into the Fraser River to fish, it won't be long before the men and women back home demand to see the lathes of the plywood plants turning, the saws of the sawmills buzzing and the trees falling in the woods."

Newest Moon Could Return Man to Earth

By UPI

A big Discoverer moon, jammed with the basic equipment necessary to return the first U.S. astronaut safely from an 18,000-mile-an-hour satellite, was successfully blasted into orbit last night from a U.S. air force base at Vandenburg, Calif.

Discoverer V, second stage of a 54-ton, Thor-boosted rocket, carried no life. But its nose contained a 300-pound capsule which the air force hoped to bring back to scientists in the world's first successful recovery of an object from orbit.

FIRED RIGHT

Twenty-one minutes after launching, the air force said telemetry data showed the satellite separated from its booster and fired as planned 100 miles above earth to continue its journey into space.

Air force men were jubilant over placing of the 19-foot long, 1,700-pound moon into a polar orbit following two recent failures. The Discoverers are intended primarily to develop equipment and technique for returning objects from orbit, with the ability to reach orbit taken for granted.

"SAFE" AREA

Next step in the experiment — recovery from a moon streaking around the world every 90-odd minutes — is scheduled for this afternoon off Hawaii. The capsule should be ejected on the 17th pass around the earth, chosen so the satellite would be in position to eject its package into a "safe" recovery area 700 miles southwest of Hawaii.

"The recovery equipment is similar to that being designed for the Project Mercury manned moon. We've still got to prove we can bring hardware and then animals back safely from a satellite before we can try it with a man."

Babe Ruth Tourney Opens

First Lacrosse Game Thrill For Little Ballplayers

After spending the best part of two days getting acquainted with Victoria, some 120 youths from 13 to 15 years old settled down to serious business last night as regional Babe Ruth baseball playdowns opened at Royal Athletic Park.

Approximately 500 fans watched B.C. champion New Westminster edge The Dalles, Ore., 3-2, after coming from behind with a pair of sixth-inning runs.

Mayor Percy Scurrah threw out the first ball.

Wednesday night most of the teams watched the Inter-City Lacrosse League game between New Westminster and Victoria. For some teams, it was their first lacrosse game.

Members of the Ketchikan, Alaska, team were impressed no end.

"That was our first lacrosse game," said coach Henry Akeo, "but the boys enjoyed themselves. They really took a shine to No. 12 of New Westminster (Jack Bionda), but the one they liked best was the Victoria goalie (Geordie Johnston)."

Apparently the Alaska lads saw some other "firsts." Driving in from the airport, one boy turned to another and gasped, "There's a real cow!"

The Dalles club is billeted close together on Craigmiller Road and the area is all but roped off as "Oregon State."

This afternoon the teams will hold workouts at various local parks.

Tonight two games are scheduled. The host Victoria team plays Ketchikan in the feature game at 8.30. Seattle King County all-stars meet Casper, Wyoming, in the first game at 7.

Laos Army Chases Reds

VIENTAINE, Laos (Reuters)—Royal Laotian government forces were reported Thursday to be re-occupying villages in northern Laos following a partial withdrawal by pro-Communist rebels.

But the rebels still hold 50 villages in the Muongson Valley.

It is believed the rebels were forced to withdraw from some areas because they extended their supply lines too far.

Revolt Over Castro Says

HAVANA (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro told a cheering crowd in central Cuba Thursday a counter-revolution attempt has been smashed and there is nothing to fear. He spoke in Cienfuegos, had a long talk with his district naval commander there, and then dropped out of sight.

Three-Mile Limit on Coast

Offshore Reserve For Oil and Gas Placed by Crown

Move Can Mean 'Millions to B.C.'

By ALEC MERRIMAN

A Crown reserve of petroleum and natural gas placed yesterday on all waters on the west coast within the three-mile limit will likely mean millions of dollars to provincial coffers, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said.

The reserve, which includes Vancouver Island and stretches from above Prince Rupert to the international boundary in Juan de Fuca Strait, covers the entire area of water within the limit except for areas now held under exploration permits.

Mr. Kiernan explained the reserve will safeguard offshore resources and will mean that permits which have cost just $250 a year hitherto may cost upwards of $100,000 under public bidding procedures which will now be required.

The mines minister pictured British Columbia's coastline exentually dotted with oil-drilling rigs. Vancouver Island waters are among those that oil companies are exploring.

Offshore Drilling Success

Speed of underwater development will depend, he said, on the results of exploration work now underway by a number of companies which secured permits before the reserve was clamped on by cabinet yesterday.

Mr. Kiernan pointed to the tremendous success of offshore drilling off the coast of California and the Gulf of Mexico.

He said the Richfield Oil Company is already doing extensive exploration work in the Queen Charlottes.

Five wells have been drilled on the shore of Graham Island in the Queen Charlottes, and although no oil was struck, the company has indicated it still has high hopes.

Mr. Kiernan said that "within a year Richfield should decide on whether it will undertake offshore drillings."

If it is successful, it will open vast new oil and natural gas fields for B.C.

In addition to the exploration permits now held, there are several thousand square miles of offshore waters involved, Mr. Kiernan said.

20 Permits in North

There are now about 20 permits in the Queen Charlotte area, 12 in the Gulf Islands area, several on the mainland crossing the water to meet the Gulf Islands leases, another group of exploration permits in the Campbell River area and some at the north end of Vancouver Island.

Prior to yesterday it was a question of who applied first and paid the $250 permit fee plus rental of 5 cents an acre per year to obtain exploration rights.

Oil permit revenues have been partly responsible for placing British Columbia in the sound financial position it is reported to be in today.

At a Crown sale of 336,000 acres in 45 parcels being conducted by the mines department today, the government expects to realize between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 for petroleum and natural gas rights.

The property to be leased ranges from 460 to 59,420-acre parcels in northeastern British Columbia from Dawson Creek to the Yukon border.

More than 50 companies, including most of the major petroleum companies, have submitted tenders.

Typhoon Slices Japan

TOKYO (UPI)—A typhoon ripped across central Japan today with winds up to 97 miles an hour and torrents of rain that measured up to 30 inches.

There were nine confirmed dead in the storm and at least 21 others were listed as missing. Twenty major rail lines were paralyzed by flood waters and landslides. Train service out of Tokyo was at a complete standstill.

More than 60,000 families were driven from their homes by rampaging river waters which breached levees.

Negroes Arrested, Schools Peaceful

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Negroes returned to two formerly white high schools yesterday without trouble, but state police said they had arrested the father of one Negro student and two other adult Negroes for carrying pistols.

Meanwhile, Gov. Orval Faubus appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court a district court decision that the special laws under which he closed four high schools last year are unconstitutional.

The Negroes arrested were Ellis Thomas, 42, father of Jefferson Thomas, the one Negro student in Central High; Dr. Garman Freeman, a dentist, and Isaac Mullen, a special deputy sheriff.

APPOINTED DEPUTY

Sheriff L. C. Young appointed Mullen as a deputy to protect the home of Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mullen will not be charged because of his status as a deputy, but he will lose his badge and deputy's card because he was arrested off his post.

Thomas and Dr. Freeman were charged in city court with carrying concealed weapons. They were freed on $200 bond each.

Dr. Freeman said they were held in county jail from 1.30 a.m. to 9.30 a.m. yesterday, after which they were taken to state police headquarters. He said state police refused to let them telephone because, they said, they wanted to "check them out" first.

State police said Thomas had a .38-calibre "police special" revolver; Mullen, a .45-calibre automatic, and Dr. Freeman, a German Mauser pistol. There also was a carbine in a car the Negroes were in.

Flying Boat Still Missing

Whereabouts of the first of four giant Mars flying boats, scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Wednesday to take up forest fire-quenching duties, is still a mystery. The planes have been expected "daily" from Alameda, Calif., but each day fail to appear.

Quebec Polio Mild Epidemic

MONTREAL (CP)—The outbreak of Polio in Montreal was officially labelled a mild epidemic Thursday night.

No new cases were reported Thursday but a number of possible cases were under investigation.

Brutality Charged In Nursing Home

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—"Toenails were pulled from the feet of patients as punishment for alleged misconduct," a grand jury said Wednesday in a report on its investigation of an Evansville nursing home.

The grand jury asked Prosecutor O. H. Roberts to take action against the operators of the nursing home.

The report also said patients were punished for bed wetting "by pouring a disinfectant upon parts of their bodies."

The grand jurors added there was evidence that "elderly and senile patients were placed in chairs under restraint and left for as long as eight hours."

Car-on-Air Coming Soon

Cars which travel on air will be built by the Curtiss-Wright Corp. at Sound Bend, Ind., starting in November. The four-passenger, 300-horsepower vehicles are designed to travel over land or water at height of six to eight inches and maximum speed of 60 miles-an-hour. Air cars have no wheels, transmission or clutches.—(AP Photofax.)

Case Against Carole May Fall to Pieces

WEST COVINA, Calif. (UPI) — The prosecution's case against Carole Tregoff, accused as an accomplice in the slaying of her boy friend's estranged wife, "may collapse like a house of cards," Judge William Martin cautioned Thursday.

His remarks came during the second day of a preliminary hearing for Miss Tregoff, red-haired ex-model accused of conspiring with Dr. Bernard Finch to kill his wife July 18.

The judge warned Prosecutor Fred Whichello "the keystone to the arch of this case" was admissibility of testimony Carole made last month at Finch's preliminary hearing. Without the testimony, he said, the state's case could collapse and the charge would be dismissed.

Whichello was then permitted to bring out any out-of-court statements Miss Tregoff might have made to police.

Whichello called Sheriff's Det. Hiram Powell of Las Vegas, who testified Miss Tregoff was warned any statement she made when Finch was arrested in the Nevada city the day after the killing could be used against her.

Attorney Robert Neeb contends the constitutional rights of the defendant, charged with murder after she completed testifying at the Finch trial, were violated. He made it clear the first attempt to introduce testimony by Miss Tregoff, 22, at the earlier hearing will be met with a motion to dismiss it.

Wife Held Key

Ex-Convict Admits 'Mad-Dog' Slayings

ISLIP, N.Y. (UPI)—Francis Bloeth, 27-year-old construction worker, has confessed the "mad-dog" slayings of three persons on Long Island, authorities said Thursday.

Bloeth, an ex-convict, confessed after hours-long pleading by his wife to tell the truth, they said.

The burly suspect had been held on a robbery charge in another case while police tried to link him definitely to the murders.

The three night workers had been slain over a span of eight days in holdups that netted the killer less than $400. A witness had identified Bloeth as the holdup man who played a game of "Russian roulette" with the victim as the target.

Bloeth, who had been held for three days by authorities convinced of his guilt, had steadfastly maintained he was innocent.

The wanton slayings had terrified communities throughout this section of Long Island.

Abandoned Mother Planned To Give Away Her Family

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — A destitute mother, not knowing where to turn for help, gave away several of her eight children and planned to give the others up for adoption, police disclosed Thursday.

Mrs. Opie Quisenberry, 28, was held on suspicion of abandonment while authorities undertook an investigation.

"I didn't know what to do," she said. "Even if I got all my children back, I still couldn't take care of them. After all, I don't have any money."

Authorities learned Mrs. Quisenberry gave up all of the children — placing them with friends, relatives and others who would take them, after her husband left her about five weeks ago.

She reached the desperate decision to part with her children when her house rent came due and other bills came in and the family's food supply ran out.

Shotgun, Axe

Sister Faces Murder Trial, Victims' Bodies Scattered

ANNISTON, Ala. (UPI)—A grand jury indicted stout, blackhaired Viola Hyatt on two murder counts Thursday for the torso slayings of two brothers, Emmett and Lee Harper.

The 32-year-old woman has confessed that she killed the men with shotgun blasts and dismembered the bodies with a double-edged axe. Portions of the bodies were found in June across three counties. Miss Hyatt was arrested July 16 and confessed the following day.

The first torso was found June 27 and the second victim the next day.

The shootings followed a drinking bout and an argument over Miss Hyatt's use of Lee's car, she said.

The brothers were killed near their home-made trailer in which they lived within a short distance of the Hyatt farm.

His Funeral Was Phony

IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—Police Thursday arrested a 33-year-old Asheboro, N.C., salesman who staged a phony drowning in Georgia "to get away from it all" and for whom memorial rites were held last Saturday.

L. C. Pettis was the object of an intensive search after his overturned motorboat was found June 4.

Pettis had been living here for two weeks under an assumed name. He blamed ragged nerves and a stomach ulcer for his attempt to start a new life.

Inspect Books Alberni Local Tells Bennett

PORT ALBERNI — Premier Bennett has been invited, "if he has the guts," to inspect books and records of strike fund administration of 4,000-member Local 1-85 International Woodworkers of America.

A similar challenge was made the Vancouver local.

A wire was sent to the premier by president W. F. Allen, stating that officers and members of the Port Alberni organization are surprised that the prime minister of the province should, through press reports, question the honesty and integrity of the people charged with responsibility of administrating the IWA strike fund.

BIG CONCENTRATION

This area has probably the heaviest concentration of woodworkers in B.C.

"Press reports indicate that you have been receiving letters from IWA members or their wives concerning the administration of the IWA strike fund," the union wire said. "We do not doubt that the premier's office at all times receives letters of complaints on all matters relating to schools, roads, prison reform, union activity, welfare payments and so on.

INDICATES SATISFACTION

In inviting the premier to look at the IWA local's books, Mr. Allen said, "failure to accept the invitation at your earliest convenience will be understood as indicating your satisfaction that the strike fund is being administered in the interest of IWA members, their wives and their families."

JOHN SQUIRE
. . . cloak of suspicion

★ ★ ★

Bennett 'Went Too Far'

PORT ALBERNI—John Squire, CCF MLA who is recording secretary of Local 1-85 IWA, said yesterday that Premier Bennett had "gone a little too far" when he questioned administration of the International Woodworkers of America strike relief fund.

"Every day hundreds of letters pour across Premier Bennett's desk and the desks of his cabinet ministers complaining about some matter or another, but never before in the seven-year history of his office has the premier ever made public acknowledgment of such correspondence. Surely it must be a matter to cause some questioning in the minds of the people of B.C.

CALLS CRANKS

"And yet, because of a few letters written to him by people to whom he usually refers as cranks, he calls for a public enquiry into a union fund and thus casts a cloak of suspicion on myself and hundreds of other people in the labor movement.

"Just who is this man who implies that all his own acts are ultra-honest and above reproach and yet suggests the acts of all others in society bear close watch?

"For a case in point, let the public reconsider his shameful treatment of H. Lee Briggs who has recently been vindicated by the federal government.

SIMILARITY ENDS

"Premier Bennett and myself have only one thing in common and that is that we are both elected members of the legislature. Beyond that point, all similarity ends for I want no part of his bumptious, supercilious, pseudo-honest Barnum and Bailey method of dealing with the affairs of B.C.

"It is my opinion that he has gone a little far in his suggestion of wrong doing against officers and committee members of the IWA."

Kyuquot Committee Urges

'Probe Fishermen's Union'

'Housecleaning' Needed

KYUQUOT — Fishermen and their wives here have formed a committee to press for a thorough investigation of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union.

"We have formed ourselves into the Kyuquot committee for the purpose of pressing for an official investigation of the aims, methods and general activities of the UFAWU. We believe that a complete house cleaning of that organization is vital to the well-being of the fishing industry, this province and ultimately the nation itself," a group spokesman from this west coast fishing village said.

'COMPANY-INSPIRED'

But Homer Stevens, general secretary of the UFAWU, was not impressed with the aims and objects of the committee when told about them last night.

"Sounds like something inspired by the companies," he said. "If they want to investigate something in the industry they should investigate the profits of the big companies exploiting them as well as us."

NOT ANTI-LABOR

Mrs. Mary Gibson, secretary of the Kyuquot committee, said that it is in no sense an anti-labor group, but members feel such an inquiry was needed in the interests of decent and legitimate trade-unionism. She said members feel it is time for individual citizens to express their opinions and take what actions they can.

Although the strike in the fishing industry is ended, "the disruptive forces" behind it remain as an ever-present danger to the public good, the committee said.

Some 5,500 fishery workers returned to work Sunday after being called out on strike by the UFAWU.

Telegrams have been sent to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Premier Bennett and the federal fisheries minister.

FACTS ON FILE

"If they were sincere about finding out something about the union they could find out," Mr. Stevens said. "All our agreements are on file at the departments of labor at Victoria and Ottawa."

He said a special study of UFAWU agreements was made in 1947 by the federal department of labor and a report was published in the Labor Gazette as a part of a general study of labor agreements across Canada.

He said the committee sounds like "somebody who has not even bothered to study trade unionism. When people go out on strike, other workers are sometimes affected by it. The least they can do, if they are working people, is to stand by the workers on strike.

"Otherwise instead of disruption by the union, they become a disruptive group themselves only useful to employers," Mr. Stevens argued.

"I would venture a guess there isn't a union member in the committee," he added.

Centre-Island Suicide Rate 'Shock' to Health Officer

NANAIMO — Nanaimo needs a resident psychiatrist in the worst way.

This fact was brought to light when an American Psychiatric Association research team was in Nanaimo yesterday.

HIRE PSYCHIATRIST

Among 11 recommendations made to Dr. Mathew Ross, medical director of the association, was that a resident psychiatrist be hired for this area.

Senior public health officer for central Vancouver Island, Dr. C. J. G. MacKenzie, suggested the psychiatrist would receive approximately $18,000 a year to start.

QUALIFIED MAN

He said unless the wage was attractive "we won't get a qualified man to leave a larger centre."

Dr. MacKenzie said he was shocked by the high rate of suicides in the central part of the Island.

The rate is 18 per 100,000 population. He said he thought Ontario had a high rate with half as many.

CONTRIBUTED TO BRIEF

Fifteen organizations or individuals in the area contributed to the brief.

Another pressing need is hospital space. The Nanaimo General Hospital is crowded at the present time and this situation will not be alleviated until 1961 or 1962, when the new regional hospital is expected to be completed.

250 PSYCHOTICS

Members of the Nanaimo Medical Society say they treat about 250 psychotics a year.

In the high schools there are about 75 emotionally disturbed pupils a year. At Brannan Lake School 350 boys a year could benefit from psychiatric help, Dr. Ross was told.

The mental survey is being carried out at the request of the provincial government. Also travelling with the team of American doctors is Dr. Allan Davidson, deputy health minister for B.C.

People's Spirit 'Gave Life' To Exhibition

DUNCAN—A humble and thankful Cowichan Exhibition president paid tribute to the "spirit" of the people here yesterday who rallied behind the faltering group and made the fair into one of the most ambitious projects in the district.

At a ribbon-cutting ceremony to officially open an administration building and the eight acres of grounds, Archie Stevenson said: "This is indeed a happy day for me. A year ago it seemed impossible we would have a fair."

CANCELLED LAST YEAR

The debt-ridden Exhibition Board had to cancel the fair last year, one of the few times since it started in 1867.

Since last summer, he said, service clubs and businessmen came to the board's aid and in less than a year the board was able to pay more than $50,000 for property, an office and three banks, as well as a "new lease on life."

SINCERE THANKS

"To you who have helped so much, we extend our sincere thanks," said Mr. Stevenson.

"We are not out of the woods yet. We need more buildings and an agriculture hall. This development we owe to the youth of our district," he said.

FUTURE 'ROSY'

The white ribbon was cut by deputy agriculture minister William MacGillivray, who said the fair's future looks "rosy."

Mr. Stevenson was presented with a $4,000 cheque from the city and one for $5,000 from the duputy minister, on behalf of the provincial government.

Duncan Cow Head of Class

Ayrshire Breeders' Association of Canada announced this week D. C. Morton, Duncan, is the owner of the leading producer in the 10 years-and-over class, Haughland Bessie. She produced 11,569 pounds milk, 537 pounds fat, 4.64 per cent in 305 days at 11 years. At this age she now has a lifetime production of 105,375 pounds milk, 4,318 pounds fat.

She is type classified "excellent" and is a daughter of Glen Campbell Footmark's Champion.

'Dream Boat' Bingo Prize

PARKSVILLE — A 14½-foot "dream boat" complete with 10 horsepower motor and a trailer, will be top prize at a Parksville Kinsmen Club bingo night at the Community hall, Saturday starting at 7.30 p.m.

The boat is a special prize as cash awards will be made for the 15 bingo games on the program.

Jack Anderson is committee chairman and all proceeds will go towards Kinsmen charities.

Up-Island Couples At Roseburg Blast

PORT ALBERNI — Two young Port Alberni couples were jarred from their beds in a Roseburg, Ore., motel by the blast from a truckload of explosives in a city street last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Hamilton, with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moul, were at a motel seven blocks from the centre of the holocaust. Arriving late at night, as they motored toward home after a holiday in San Francisco, the Port Alberni couples were sound asleep when the blast occurred about 2.30 a.m.

Mrs. Hamilton said that her first impression after the shock of the blast was that they were being bombed. They saw debris flying through the air and the whole mountainside appeared to be in flames.

They later walked closer to the scene of the explosion until warned by police to get under cover for fear of further blasts. Without bothering to go back to the beds they had occupied for only a few hours, they continued their journey.

Caravan to Test New Tofino Road

A 50-car cavalcade will give the Alberni-Tofino road its first real try-out Aug. 22.

Jointly sponsored by the Tofino and Ucluelet-Port Albion Chambers of Commerce, to publicize that part of the West Coast and its famous Long Beach, the cars will leave Saturday morning and arrive at Nanaimo, via Alberni, in time for those making the trip to take part in the last day of the Vancouver Island Exhibition which is to be held at Nanaimo next Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The two west coast Chambers will have an exhibit showing the attractions, natural resources and industries of the Tofino-Ucluelet district.

Among outsiders invited to join the caravan is Major George Nicholson of Victoria a staunch advocate for the road during his 30-year residence on the west coast. He will be the guest of Tom Gibson, president of the Tofino Chamber of Commerce.

The sponsers have been assured by the contractors that the road will be in good shape. The last bridge has already been decked and its approaches graded.

The official opening of the road is expected to take place early next month.

Comedian's Eye Healing Slowly

QUALICUM BEACH — Comedian Bob Hope, who is staying here with his family, is still suffering from the eye trouble that affected his sight earlier this year.

In a telephone interview, Hope's secretary said that the Hollywood star's eye is healing slowly, but he must have a complete rest.

So far he hasn't caught any fish on his outings, but he's still trying.

$2,000,000 for Terminal, Longer Runways

Jet-Age Plans Unveiled For Pat Bay by Pearkes

★ ★ ★

Scurrah, Chamber Elated, Seek Continental Service

★ ★ ★

The federal government will spend $2,000,000 on a new air terminal building and jet-age runways for Victoria International Airport at Patricia Bay.

Disclosure of the long-demanded airport project was made yesterday by Defence Minister George Pearkes after he received a department of transport report.

Details of the plan to modernize the airport are:

1. Expenditure of $1,400,000 this year and next for runway extension and taxi-strip improvement.

2. Construction of a $550,000 first stage of a new $1,000,000 passenger terminal this year and next.

3. Improvement of general operating facilities at a cost of $103,000.

Announcement of the modernization program brought elation to Mayor Percy Scurrah and Victoria Chamber of Commerce president Conway Parrott, both of whom have long advocated such a move.

Details of the project were learned only a day after the mayor and Mr. Conway had expressed disappointment that no firm decision had so far been made by Ottawa.

Something Definite at Last

Said the mayor yesterday: "I'm glad we have something definite from them at last.

"This makes it quite evident that they recognize the importance of Victoria as an air terminal.

"We'll make something out of that airport yet if we keep pushing," he added.

Mr. Parrott, who travelled to Ottawa with the mayor some months ago to press for the airport project, said, "I'm hoping that before the work is finished Victoria can take its place as a transcontinental air terminal.

"I want to see some transcontinental flights originate and others terminate at Victoria," he said.

A day earlier the mayor told the Colonist he would only wait another 30 days without definite word on the airport work without forcefully renewing his appeal.

Although some of the details of the program have not been disclosed, authoritative sources believe the $1,400,000 runway allotment will be largely for extension of the main east-west runway to 7,000 feet.

This would permit Trans-Canada Air Lines to land its transcontinental turbo-prop Viscount flights here and pave the way for the airline's already-announced plan to put Viscounts on the Victoria-Vancouver run by 1961.

Replaced by Vanguards

When the Viscounts become available for short-run use they will be replaced in transcontinental service by turbo-prop Vanguards and pure jet DC-8s.

With the main runway extended to 7,000 feet it would accommodate the Vanguard and make the future origin and termination of transcontinental flights here feasible.

In addition, TCA is expected to maintain one transcontinental Viscount flight in order facilitate maintenance deliveries to its shops in Winnipeg.

This flight could be the one chosen to use Victoria International Airport as a transcontinental base.

Of the total airport expenditure a sum of $628,000 is scheduled to be spent this year.

Included in this year's work will be $100,000 on the passenger terminal, $20,000 for expansion of the power plant, $8,000 for extension of the electrical distribution system and $500,000 on runways.

Next year's work calls for spending $900,000 on runways, $50,000 for high-intensity runway lighting facilities and $25,000 for water distribution facilities—plus $450,000 on the terminal.

Short Circuit Hits Dryer

The legendary overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder didn't cause half the consternation which a pair of trousers caused in Mrs. Margaret Merriman's electric dryer at 3814 Merriman Drive yesterday when short circuit set them alight. Remains of husband's slacks are balefully examined by housewife who estimated damage to clothes and dryer at $275.

Happy Day For World Back in '45

Fourteen years ago tonight, Victoria, in common with many of the world's communities, was staging a heartfelt celebration.

It had just been learned by neswpaper, radio broadcast and by word of mouth that the last official shot had been fired in the final stage of the costliest war in terms of life and money, in history.

It was VJ-Day, 1945.

Downtown Victoria was a sea of cheering faces as thousands thronged the streets anxious to shed the oppressing tensions of six years of conflict.

Today the anniversary of that momentous occasion will pass unmarked except in the memories of those who were there and those who awaited their return—and the friends and relatives of those who failed to return.

DUNCAN — City council is considering imposing sprinkling regulations.

The move may come as a result of continued complaints made to the city hall of low pressure, "filth" in the pipes and of over-use of the system by some residents.

A check is being made on pressures. Some dead-end pipes are to be blown out.

PORT ALBERNI — Mrs. Betty Crozier of this city will exhibit some 20 water color paintings in Port Alberni branch of Vancouver Island Regional Library on Aug. 25.

Included in the exhibit will be recent work under instruction of Warren Brandon of San Francisco.

Mrs. Crozier is a prolific artist excelling in floral paintings, two of which were recently purchased by the Friends of the Library Club to be hung in the new quarters of the regional library in the municipal building.

FULFORD HARBOUR — Prompt action by J. S. Clark of Lands End Road at Sidney, and the quick co-operation of the forest service on Salt Spring Island, prevented what could have developed into a fire of major proportions on Mount Tuam, at the south end of Salt Spring.

Mr. Clark noticed signs of a fire starting at 3.15 a.m., Monday, and he immediately notified forest ranger L. H. Lorentsen and assistant ranger R. H. Doerksen.

With Bob Akerman, of Fulford, who knows the mountain well, they reached the scene of the fire, a quarter of an acre in extent.

The men gradually got it under control, relaying water by pumps from water holes down the mountain.

A five-man crew working under the forest service direction fought the blaze. The fire was blamed on souvenir collectors seeking pieces off the air force plane which crashed on Mount Tuam Jan. 4, 1944.

★ ★ ★

ALBERNI — Some Port Alberni garbage is finding its way into the "Old Town" dump following establishment of a charge for after-hour disposal at the larger city's dump, according to a report from Ald. R. Foxcroft.

The health and welfare committee was asked to study the advisability of setting hours for use of the dump.

An application for permission to build eight suites as a preliminary unit of a town court was received from the management of Haines Valley Trailer Park. Council approved in principle.

Referred to the finance committee for study was an objection from Heaney's Cartage & Storage Ltd. to a charge of $82 for a six-month licence for delivery of gasoline by trailer truck.

Council voted to return an over-payment of $250 to a taxpayer who had settled his taxes before discovery was made of an error in assessment of improvements on his property.

PORT ALBERNI—Retirement holds no terrors for Dave Dootson who has said goodbye to his desk at the National Employment Service local office after 14 years on the job.

"Now I'll have more time to do what I want to do," he declared as he stood in his basement workshop surrounded by tools of the hobbies he has pursued during an active life.

First claim on his time will be made by an interest which he shares with his wife, Mary. They are charter members of Alberni Valley Rock and Gem Society formed here just a year ago.

Recently they acquired lapidary equipment which is the best on Vancouver Island. Already they have started the intriguing work involved in cutting and polishing the products of field trips. Crystals, agates, jades, garnets, amethyst and hundreds of other specimens are labelled as to source and ready for finishing.

The couple is interested in prospects of a local museum where samples collected by the gem society members could be displayed.

Studying as he works, Dave has learned to look for the qualities which make a common rock into a thing of beauty.

Seattle Man Buys East Sooke Ranch

Sale of the 110-acre Silver Spray Ranch at the end of the East Sooke Road, for upwards of $50,000, has been concluded by Pemberton Holmes Ltd.

The ranch has been sold to Seattle businessman Archie H. Stuart, who may lease it or operate it as a tourist resort. Previous owner was W. P. Kellar, a wildlife and scenic photographer, who has been farming sheep and beef cattle.

It is one of the largest waterfront farms on Vancouver Island and has nine bays and beaches.

Park Lighting Will Stay On

Hidden lighting to show off the ornamental flower beds of Beacon Hill Park will remain in effect until Labor Day, Sept. 7, a parks official reported last night.

The lighting, similar to that in Butchart Gardens, has been in operation for two months.

Vivi Petersen Miss Canada Runner-Up

Coast beauties took the honors in a nation-wide talent, looks and charm contest at Burlington, Ont., last night as a New Brunswick girl was named Miss Canada and Victoria's Vivi Petersen was runner-up.

The two topped the judges poll for beauty, personality, talent and manners in the competition between 23 entrants from all parts of the country.

Winner was Rosemary Catherine Keenan, 19, of Fredricton.

In a telephone interview interview last night Miss Petersen praised the East Coast girl who won the crown.

VERY HAPPY

"It couldn't happen to a nicer girl," he said. "She deserved to win. But I am very happy to have won a cup for second. I want to show it to everyone in Victoria.

"Next year I hope whoever represents Victoria will win the big cup."

In the tradition of keyed-up contestants in such contests, Miss Petersen shed tears toward the end of the interview.

But she was "very happy," she repeated.

PROVES CONTRAST

Her joy contrasted with the feelings of Margaret Ann Schnell, 20, of Tisdale, Sask.

After placing third this year, for the second year in a row, she announced she would never enter another beauty contest.

The Victoria entrant in the Miss Canada contest won her Miss Victoria title at the Jaycee fair in the Memorial Arena, May 9.

She is Danish-born and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Volmer Petersen, 2815 Fifth.

Inquiry Set Into Death Of Boy, 5

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, said he plans to hold an inquiry today into the death of five-year-old Donald Richard Stewart, of 3314 Fircrest, who died in hospital early yesterday morning after being thrown against rocks by a flailing fire hose.

But no inquest will be held, Dr. Hart said.

The child was hurled against the rocks by a fire hose that snapped across a corner lot while being unreeled by Saanich firemen who were fighting a grass fire near the Stewart home on Wednesday.

SERVICES SATURDAY

Funeral services will be held at 1.30 p.m. Saturday from McCall's funeral home, Rev. James Storey officiating. Burial will follow in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan Stewart; two sisters, Martha Dale, 11, and Betty Louise, 10, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Stewart, of 160 Croft; and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Gray, of 519 Rupert, and several aunts and uncles.

Sends His Allowance of $5

Helps Replace $40 She Lost

Young Billy Remembers Woman Who Saved His Life

A boy who was saved from drowning two years ago by Mrs. Hazel Baynes, of Langford, sent her his allowance—a $5 bill—after reading a story in Sunday's Colonist that the woman had lost her social assistance money.

The child's action unfolded a story of his near-drowning which never appeared in a newspaper and which his own father has never been told.

A letter containing $5 signed only "Billy" which arrived at The Daily Colonist yesterday stated:

"Mrs. Baynes lifesaved me out of Langford Lake two years ago. After she did artificial respiration on my back she bawled me out for swimming alone, then showed me how to swim. This is my allowance. Please give it to her."

Mrs. Baynes, of 1120 Donna Avenue, whose only sustenance is a monthly social assistance cheque, said she thought a newspaper report of the loss of her wallet containing $40 in cash in a department store in Victoria, probably prompted Billy into sending the money.

She said that two years ago she had gone swimming at an empty public beach on Langford Lake just off Goldstream Avenue and after she had waded out past the "drop off" into deep water, she kicked something.

"I dived down to see what I bumped into and I found this seven or eight-year-old boy."

She said she pulled him to shore and successfully applied artificial respiration.

"If he said I bawled him out, that's no understatement. I did. He told me he was going to learn to swim where nobody could watch him when he chose the empty Langford beach."

The rescuer said she sent Billy back into the water and taught him how to "dog paddle" before driving him most of the way to his home. She said she later received a letter from the boy's mother thanking her and explaining that the father had not been told because he "would be angry."

When she heard about the money sent by Billy, Mrs. Baynes said, "It's a very thoughtful child that would do a thing like that."

She said she would accept it because the money she lost has not been returned and she won't receive another social assistance cheque until Sept. 6.

Coast Limit Three Miles

By ALEC MERRIMAN

A Crown reserve of petroleum and natural gas placed yesterday on all waters on the west coast within the three-mile limit will likely mean millions of dollars to provincial coffers, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said.

The reserve, which includes Vancouver Island and stretches from above Prince Rupert to the international boundary in Juan de Fuca Strait, covers the entire area of water within the limit except for areas now held under exploration permits.

Mr. Kiernan explained the reserve will safeguard offshore resources and will mean that permits which have cost just $250 a year hitherto may cost upwards of $100,000 under public bidding procedures which will now be required.

The mines minister pictured British Columbia's coastline eventually dotted with oil-drilling rigs. Vancouver Island waters are among those that oil companies are exploring.

Offshore Drilling Success

Speed of underwater development will depend, he said, on the results of exploration work now underway by a number of companies which secured permits before the reserve was clamped on by the cabinet.

Mr. Kiernan pointed to the tremendous success of offshore drilling off the coast of California and the Gulf of Mexico.

He said the Richfield Oil Company is already doing extensive exploration work in the Queen Charlottes.

Five wells have been drilled on the shore of Graham Island in the Queen Charlottes, and although no oil was struck, the company has indicated it still has high hopes.

Mr. Kiernan said that "within a year Richfield should decide on whether it will undertake offshore drillings."

If it is successful, it will open vast new oil and natural gas fields for B.C.

In addition to the exploration permits now held, there are several thousand square miles of offshore waters involved, Mr. Kiernan said.

20 Permits in North

There are now about 20 permits in the Queen Charlotte area, 12 in the Gulf Islands area, several on the mainland crossing the water to meet the Gulf Islands leases, another group of exploration permits in the Campbell River area and some at the north end of Vancouver Island.

Prior to yesterday it was a question of who applied first and paid the $250 permit fee plus rental of 5 cents an acre per year to obtain exploration rights.

Oil permit revenues have been partly responsible for placing British Columbia in the sound financial position it is reported to be in today.

At a Crown sale of 336,000 acres in 45 parcels being conducted by the mines department today, the government expects to realize between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 for petroleum and natural gas rights.

The property to be leased ranges from 460 to 59,420-acre parcels in northeastern British Columbia from Dawson Creek to the Yukon border.

More than 50 companies, including most of the major petroleum companies, have submitted tenders.

Typhoon Slices Japan

TOKYO (UPI)—A typhoon ripped across central Japan Thursday with winds up to 97 miles an hour and torrents of rain that measured up to 30 inches.

There were nine confirmed dead in the storm and at least 21 others were listed as missing. Twenty major rail lines were paralyzed by flood waters and landslides. Train service out of Tokyo was at a complete standstill.

More than 60,000 families were driven from their homes by rampaging river waters which breached levees.

Wicks Prepared to Step In

LYLE WICKS

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks indicated yesterday the government is prepared to step in to pave the way for settlement in the IWA strike which has idled some 27,000 woodworkers since July 6.

"There has been no indication that either party wants to get together," he said. "It may well be an opportunity may have to be provided to both sides whereby they can get together."

Mr. Wicks wouldn't elaborate as to whether he is considering the appointment of a mediator.

Costs of the strike to British Columbia is estimated at more than $1,000,000 a day.

Mr. Wicks said the overnight settlement of the 50-day ironworkers strike was "a major development, but not necessarily the only major development that could take place."

He said the latest settlement "should and likely will mark the end of the rising industrial strife of the last month or so and mark a new trend towards settlement of existing disputes and heading off further ones."

He said there were a great deal of unusual circumstances in the ironworkers strike.

But, he added, the main hope will come from the psychological effect of its settlement along with the settlement of two other disputes within the last week.

(Some 5,000 fishermen and 220 shingle workers have returned to work in the last week as well as the 550 ironworkers.)

"Workers now on strike and the employers will want to see operations commencing and the wheels turning," Mr. Wicks said.

"I think that when the people see the fishermen going out into the Fraser River to fish, it won't be long before the men and women back home demand to see the lathes of the plywood plants turning, the saws of the sawmills buzzing and the trees falling in the woods."

Newest Moon Could Return Man to Earth

By United Press International

A big Discoverer moon, jammed with the basic equipment necessary to return the first U.S. astronaut safely from an 18,000-mile-an-hour satellite, was successfully blasted into orbit last night from a U.S. air force base at Vandenburg, Calif.

Discoverer V, second stage of a 54-ton, Thor-boosted rocket, carried no life. But its nose contained a 300-pound capsule which the air force hoped to bring back to scientists in the world's first successful recovery of an object from orbit.

Next step in the experiment — recovery from a moon streaking around the world every 90-odd minutes — is scheduled for this afternoon off Hawaii. The capsule should be ejected on the 17th pass around the earth, chosen so the satellite would be in position to eject its package into a "safe" recovery area 700 miles southwest of Hawaii.

Officials said "equipment is similar to that being designed for the Project Mercury manned moon. We've still got to prove we can bring hardware and then animals back safely from a satellite before we can try it with a man."

First Lacrosse Game Thrill For Little Ballplayers

After spending the best part of two days getting acquainted with Victoria, some 120 youths from 13 to 15 years old settled down to serious business last night as regional Babe Ruth baseball playdowns opened at Royal Athletic Park.

Approximately 1,500 fans watched B.C. champion New Westminster edge The Dalles, Ore., 3-2, after coming from behind with a pair of sixth-inning runs.

Mayor Percy Scurrah threw out the first ball.

Wednesday night most of the teams watched the Inter-City Lacrosse League game between New Westminster and Victoria. For some teams, it was their first lacrosse game.

Members of the Ketchikan, Alaska, team were impressed no end.

"That was our first lacrosse game," said coach Henry Akeo, "but the boys enjoyed themselves. They really took a shine to No. 12 of New Westminster, (Jack Bionda), but the one they liked best was the Victoria goalie (Geordie Johnston)."

Apparently the Alaska lads saw some other "firsts." Driving in from the airport, one boy turned to another and gasped, "There's a real cow!"

The Dalles club is billeted close together on Craigmillar Road and the area is all but roped off as "Oregon State."

This afternoon the teams will hold workouts at various local parks.

Tonight two games are scheduled. The host Victoria team plays Ketchikan in the feature game at 8.30. Seattle King County all-stars meet Casper, Wyoming, in the first game at 7.

Negroes Arrested, Schools Peaceful

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Negroes returned to two formerly white high schools yesterday without trouble, but state police said they had arrested the father of one Negro student and two other adult Negroes for carrying pistols.

Meanwhile, Gov. Orval Faubus appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court a district court decision that the special laws under which he closed four high schools last year are unconstitutional.

The Negroes arrested were Ellis Thomas, 42, father of Jefferson Thomas, the one Negro student in Central High; Dr. Garman Freeman, a dentist, and Isaac Mullen, a special deputy sheriff.

APPOINTED DEPUTY

Sheriff L. C. Young appointed Mullen as a deputy to protect the home of Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mullen will not be charged because of his status as a deputy, but he will lose his badge and deputy's card because he was arrested off his post.

Thomas and Dr. Freeman were charged in city court with carrying concealed weapons. They were freed on $200 bond each.

Dr. Freeman said they were held in county jail from 1.30 a.m. to 9.30 a.m. yesterday, after which they were taken to state police headquarters. He said state police refused to let them telephone because, they said, they wanted to "check them out" first.

State police said Thomas had a .38-calibre "police special" revolver; Mullen, a .45-calibre automatic, and Dr. Freeman, a German Mauser pistol. There also was a carbine in a car the Negroes were in.

Flying Boat Still Missing

Whereabouts of the first of four giant Mars flying boats, scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Wednesday to take up forest fire-quenching duties, is still a mystery. The planes have been expected "daily" from Alameda, Calif., but each day fail to appear.

Quebec Polio Mild Epidemic

MONTREAL (CP)—The outbreak of polio in Montreal was officially labelled a mild epidemic Thursday night.

No new cases were reported Thursday but a number of possible cases were under investigation.
